School's last day .....

ested parents attending school with their children, taking this time to talk with teachers about next year's schedules, classes, etc.

Board member Louise Zachary suggested the day be spent as a field day.

"This day has to be one of the 175 instructional days required by the state," Elder said.

"However, maybe field day exercises could be held in the afternoon," he continued.

Board member John Cleaver asked if the teachers could get the students excited about coming to school on a Saturday by stressing to them that if they make the day up on Saturday, May 9, they would not have to come back on Monday after graduation.

"I think they could," Elder answered.

"After all, this is for the education of the kids," he added.

The board agreed that making the day up on Monday or Tuesday, May 25 or May 26, would be just as inconvenient as attending school on a Saturday, because of Memorial Day weekend activities, therefore passing the motion unanimously.

However, the state board saw things differently. According to Elder a call the next morning revealed the state did not approve of the plan and the board would have to consider different alternatives.

The state people said they would rather not have the children going six days in a row," Elder told The Mercury last Thursday.

After studying the situation, Elder later said the best alternative is to have school May 25, one day after high school graduation.

In other business, the board:

- approved use of the elementary school stage and cafeteria Saturday, May 30, 1987, for Ginger's School of Dance recital.

- granted permission for history classes to take a trip to Frankfort April 27, 1987.

- placed Carl Nichols, Jerry Linville, and Carol Chandler on substitute bus driver list for remainder of the year, pending all three take the eight-hour driver instruction course required to be eligible.

- employed Nancy Hogg as lunchroom aide for two hours each day, replacing Betty Guthrie, who is now a full-time teacher's aide.

- approved a field trip for Tony Smith's class.

- Approved sixth grade trip to 4-H camp on May 21, 1987, for education workshop on safety, first aid, and nature studies.

- approved second grade field trip to Boonesboro, May 20.

- granted Debra Ammerman maternity and-or sick leave August 18, 1987 to September 22, 1987, for the 1987-88 school year.

- approved four days excused absences for Ron Allison during May.

- voted to hire Bobbie McCord of Ewing, KY, to teach math and physics for the 1987-88 school year.

In other business discussion, Elder informed the board all discrepancies with the fire marshall had been settled, except for installation of automatic smoke detectors interconnected with the fire alarm in the high school.

According to Elder, the detectors will be installed every 30 feet in the basement of the high school for the 1987-88 school year.

The board, at the regular meeting held April 13, accepted the resignation of Teresa Hardyman, a high school English teacher, effective at the end of the 1986-87 school year.

The next board of education regular meeting will be held Monday, May 11, at 6:00 p.m.
