Girl Scouts begin fall recruitment

The typical Girl Scout leader used to be thought of as a mother of small children and a full-time homemaker.

But not in 1987!

Today's Girl Scout leader can be a working mother or a senior citizen, a single career woman or an "empty nester" whose children are grown.

She, or he, can hold a Ph.D. in economics, be a full-time student or work at any occupation.

What all these women and men must be, however, is energetic, intelligent and supportive of the diverse group of girls who make up today's typical Girl Scout troop, including" kindergarten-age Daisy Girl Scouts, members of Girl Scouting's newest age level.

Nicholas County Girl Scouts are now beginning their Fall recruitment.

If any girl from kindergarten to the 12th grade is welcome to join.

Nicholas County Girl Scout Chairman, Jane Whalen is pleased with the interest shown in the program.

She invites all parents who would like to enroll their daughter in the program, and all individuals who would like to help carry out the program to call the Troop Organizer Jane Whalen, 289-2712, for more information about Girl Scouts.

Health Tips from Lee Rose

Many times the simplest solutions to any situation are inexpensive, right at hand and take little effort. The Department for Health Services Local Letter offers the following health secrets to lower your medical bills:

AIR: You need fresh air. Go outdoors and breathe deeply several times. Let fresh air blow through your home; your rooms will smell good.

WATER: Most of your body is water. Drink six to eight glasses every day. Drink water to help your trillions of cells function properly and help your kidneys and sweat glands eliminate waste.

EXERCISE: Unused muscles waste away. Exercise tones muscles, encourages deep breathing and stimulates blood circulation.

SUNLIGHT: Sunshine helps the body produce Vitamin D and use calcium properly.

REST: Scientific surveys prove that people who get seven to eight hours of sleep a night live longer.

DIET: Fruits, grains, nuts and vegetables make the best diet. Go easy on fats and sugar.

ABSTINENCE: Coffee, tea, and hot spices are bad, whether they taste good or not. Tobacco, alcohol, and other narcotics are pure poison, not merely hazardous to health, but to life as well.

THOUGHTS: It is estimated that 90 percent of all diseases are to some extend psychosomatic; That is, they start or get worse because of the way people think. Gloomy thoughts produce sickness, sickness produces gloomier thoughts. Many patients have surprised their doctors by getting better because they never gave up hope.
