Local gridders sign to play in Missouri

By Marsha Livingood
Of The Carlisle Mercury Staff

Two former Nicholas County Bluejacket football players will leave for Tarkio, Missouri, July 31, to play football for the Tarkio College football squad, under the direction of head coach Doyle Slayton.

As members of the 1987 graduating class of Nicholas County, Ron Blakeman and Robert McGuffey have each accepted a four-year football scholarship to the Missouri school.

"It's a great opportunity, that I am looking forward to," McGuffey said.

"We're ready," Blakeman added in agreement.

Beginning his third year as head football coach at Nicholas County, Robbie Barr played a big part in the success of these two young men.

"I tried to get them the best chance to play college football," Barr said, "in addition to the best education possible.

"I hate to see them leave, because I'll have two big holes to fill on my football squad.

"They're just like my sons," Barr added.

Blakeman is the son of Bobby and Della Blakeman, originally from Lexington.

Blakemen's family moved to Carlisle at the beginning of his freshman year, but it wasn't until his sophomore year Blakeman began playing football for Nicholas County.

"I was new here, and I just wanted to get a feel of everything first," Blakeman said.

Blakeman attended Beaumont Junior High School in Lexington before coming to Nicholas County, and played football there his seventh and eighth grade years.

McGuffey, born and raised in Nicholas County, is the son of Ellen McGuffey.

In addition to playing football for Nicholas County Junior High and Nicholas County High School, McGuffey also ran track his freshman, sophomore and junior years.

According to McGuffey, Slayton told the twowerecruits he would prefer to use them as offensive linemen, but would give them a choice.

"We lean toward defense positions," Blakeman said, "but we'll take whatever we can get."

Nicholas County High School's football Bluejackets benefited from Blakeman as a fullback and defensive end, and McGuffey contributed to the team as an offensive tackle and defensive end.

Barr said the amount of playing time the two young men see at Tarkio College will depend on the amount of injuries of upperclassmen on the squad and how well the two can adjust to college football.

"You also have to consider if they (Blakeman and McGuffey) get to them selves," Barr said.

"I know they are going to work hard, and they're leaving in good shape," Barr added.

Blakeman and McGuffey have been working out in the weight room at Nicholas County High School in order to keep in shape for freshman orientation of the Tarkio College football squad.

In talking about the type of school and community Blakeman and McGuffey will be attending, Barr said Tarkio College is a great deal like Georgetown College, in terms of size.

Located in the northwest corner of Missouri, 120 miles from Kansas, Barr said Tarkio has much like a Carlisle setting.

"That's good because it is what these guys are used to," Barr said.

"It's a small town, with no hustle and bustle," Blakeman agreed.

After recruits, Slayton contacted Barr with interest in Blakeman and McGuffey; therefore, Barr set up an official visit for the two young men.

Thanks to the Nicholas County Football Boosters, headed by Phyllis Ramey, plane tickets were purchased for Blakeman and McGuffey to visit their prospective school.

McGuffey is planning to major in data processing, while Blakeman's major will be business management.

"These guys also chose Tarkio College because it had a good academic program in both of these areas," Barr said.

"It'll take us two or three weeks to get settled with school," McGuffey said, "and then we'll get to know everyone."

"The people in Tarkio are real nice," Blakeman added. "As soon as we went down there, they made us feel like we had been there our whole life.

"But like Marty Wright of the Cleveland Browns said, 'It doesn't matter where you start, it's where you finish,'" Blakeman said in conclusion.
