Mistakes

There's nothing easy about making mistakes. It isn't something you plan to do on a regular basis, and it's certainly something you try and avoid if you can. In the newspaper business it appears we make mistakes more than in other businesses, but I doubt if that's really true either. Last week we had two front page headlines with misspelled words in them...

Moving straight ahead

With the summer months already surrounding us, it's very important you take extra special care when driving on the streets of our town. There's a lot of little people out there moving around, and it's something we all have to watch out for.

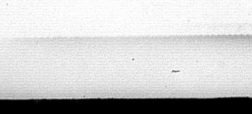

City problems

From that I have been able to tell the City of Carlisle is still facing some problems in the financial areas, even with the assistance of state government and a big grant from HUD. Both of these areas, water and sewer, are something which have to be addressed to keep the city abreast of the impending increase in need in all areas.

And so, for another week, thanks and something.

Report to Kentucky SENATOR WENDELL FORD U.S. House, Washington, D.C. 20518 MORE CARE FOR RURAL COMMUNITIES An increasing awareness of the budget deficits continues to bring cuts in federal aid to state and local governments, forcing many communities to become increasingly creative. The Reagan Administration has held back the federal government spends too much money, and all agree that cutting back on the federal deficit is the only way to address the deficit. But I believe the issue is whether the benefits of the federal funds from such cuts will be primarily absorbed by the harm done to specific communities in Kentucky and in other states.
