Higgins went over from the one yard line in the first quarter to give the Wildcats a 7-0 lead.

Florida narrowed the gap to 7-3 at half-time on only fourth of a 22-yard field goal by Jeff Dawson in the second quarter. Randall, who finished with a completion percentage of 50 (UK record), passed for 181 yards and helped keep the Gators off balance as Kentucky had possession of the football for a season-high 41:02.

Joy Worley called a 34-yard field goal with 6:41 left to play to move UK up 10-3. With Florida driving late in the contest, Wildcat cornerback Tony Mayes turned in the game-winning tackle as he stripped Ricky Nattiel of the pigskin and recovered the football to give UK possession with 30 seconds remaining.

The Kentucky Department of Education, explained, Tom Korman, Tom Korman and Mary Martin head research study on the Pyramid Effect. This means what teachers and parents expect from students relate to what they do in academics and general day to day activities. Expectations have a real impact on performance.

They isolated expectations standards into 18 observable traits as that training could be more effective.
