Legislation introduced

Legislation introduced by U. S. Senators Mitch McConnell (R-KY) and Wendell H. Ford (D-KY) to return the Frankfort National Fish Hatchery to the Commonwealth of Kentucky passed the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee today by unanimous vote.

The hatchery, which sits next to Elkhorn Creek in Franklin County, is located on property given to the federal government by the Commonwealth in 1952.

The federal government operated the hatchery before leasing it back to the state 15 October, 1986.

Kentucky has committed over $70,000 to improve the 265 hatchery by upgrading the water-supply system, installing a new deep well, constructing a new hatchery building, renovating existing structures and repairing fish ponds located at the site.

Winner in the court of appeals race in this district, Judge Judy West, visited Carlisle and Nicholas County last week to thank voters for support in the P election. - Staff Photo.
