NCHS downs MMI, 36-8

CARLEISLE After a wordless first quarter, Nicholas County found its offense and scored three touchdowns in the second frame, on the way to a 36-8 win over visiting MMI.

The Fryman had four touchdowns for eight touchdowns of 55 and 45 yards and running plays of eight and 25 yards.

Quarterback Todd Day also added a score on a 45 yard run. Day's touchdown came on a broken play, where he reversed field and ran away from the MMI defense.

Nicholas County added 15 points in the third quarter for the win.

MMI had a scoring drive in the last quarter as Dean Villafra carried from 14 yards out for a touchdown. MMI established on a two-point conversion to set the final margin.

Fryman carried the ball 11 times for 211 yards and caught one pass for 11 yards.

Day finished the game with three completions on six attempts, including a two point conversion. Willie Wickman headed in the game's longest pass, a 23 yard strike from Day.

It was the Jackets' second leading rusher with 64 yards. Frankie Johnson finished the night with 96 yards and Scott Irwin had 28 yards.

Johnson was the leading tackle for Nicholas County with six solo tackles. In all, Nicholas County showed 15 players recording at least one tackle in the game.

"MMI played a tough game. The players from MMI played up to their capabilities. They have a good team, under the circumstances. They certainly didn't quit," said NCHS Head Coach Robbin Barr.

Barr was pleased this game allowed some of his players to experience pressure.

"Yes, it was an opportunity for many of our younger guys to get some game playing experience," he added.

With the win, Nicholas County improved its record to 2-6.

Lewis County Next foe

This Friday night at home the Jackets will entertain Lewis County. The visitors and Jackets have one common opponent: Both have defeated Mason County. The Jackets turned the trick 14-6 earlier in the season, while Lewis County pulled off a 28-20 win last Thursday night, to improve its record to 3-5.

Lewis County has some real leg talent," Barr said of the mounting prospect on the opponent.

"They'll run out of the I formation, with a slot and a split end. Lewis will try and throw the ball a lot. They did against Mason County," Barr said.

Chris Heller has been lost for the season with a knee injury, which according to Barr, may require surgery.

With three games left on the schedule Barr said he is hopeful his team will play together.

"In order for us to consider this season successful we need to play up to our potential. We have to play hard, hit hard, execute well, and everything else will fall into place."

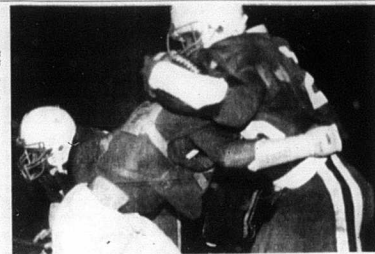

Kickoff for the NCHS - Lewis County game is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Junior High Results

October 8 NCHS 7th-8th grade football team defeated Fleming County 23-6.

October 12 10th-11th graders defeated Mason County 0-0, while the eighth graders lost to Mason 20-14.

The junior high graders are scheduled to play Harrison County away, October 15, with a home game set October 22 against Harrison County.

Nicholas County runningback Trip Fryman ground out 211 yards in NCHS' victory over MMI Friday night. The Bluejackets won their homecoming game, 36-8, in the photo above.

By Norm Minick
Cool weather will mark the end of the recent outbreak of epizootic hemorrhagic disease (EHD) in deer in Christian, Hopkins, Todd, Boone, McLean and Mahanberg counties.

The disease will have little or no effect on the deer harvest, according to John Phillips, deer program coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

EHD, which is transmitted through an insect bite, has been confirmed as the cause of death for 55 deer in Western Kentucky.

It is possible that 200 deer have died from the disease in each county, and that some hunters may see the effects of the disease in some harvested animals during the opening bow season and upcoming gun season in November.

Visible symptoms of chronic EHD in deer are cracked or sloughed hoofs and emaciation.

Earlier stages of the disease primarily affect the animal internally in the form of lesions; however, the disease does not adversely affect the quality of the meat or the health of anglers who consume it.

According to Phillips, it is possible that the deer harvest in the six-county region may be reduced slightly this year, and that the disease may cause fewer deer to be harvested during the 1988 season.

"Due to the fact that this region has a high population of deer, which needs to be reduced somewhat to help control crop depredation, we see no reason why the deer season should be shortened or otherwise altered in these counties," said Phillips.

Deer populations in each of the affected counties are estimated at 10,000 animals.

Although approximately one in every five deer affected with the disease survives, usually less than 25 percent of the herd will contract the disease.

Angler, hunters coming in contact with deer with EHD need not discard the deer and can rest assured that no ill-effects will come to anyone who handles the deer.

"The outbreak of EHD will end with the first frost, as the first change in weather will kill the carrier insects," said Dr. Randy Davidson, veterinarian of the Southeast Wildlife Disease Study Center in Atlanta, Georgia.

"I guess the threat to humans or domestic livestock, although livestock may host the disease," Dr. Davidson added.

Since these animals do not have the disease, there should be no long-term effects on the deer herd in this region, said Davidson.

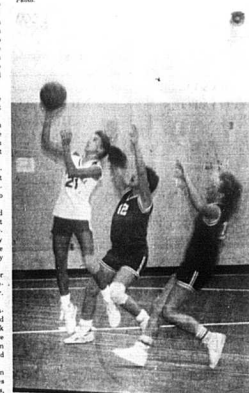

EHD is reported each year in deer across the southeastern states and is always present in deer herds, according to Phillips.

The disease could show up anywhere in the state, but with the pending cold weather it is highly unlikely to spread or appear elsewhere.
