Bond's Broadcast

Nothing of this staff

Proud can make a newspaper publisher happier than to have his or her newspaper do well in competition with other newspapers. Yes, it's true, newspapers have competitions, too. At least four times a year, The Mercury, along with other weekly newspapers send in entries of what we believe to be our best work and it is judged against newspapers in the same circulation class.

The Mercury is in competition with newspapers in the class of 3500 or under circulation. This puts us in competition with such outstanding newspapers as The Cumberland County News, The Berea Citizen, The Both County News Outlook, Clay City Times, to name only a few.

At the last convention your Carlisle Mercury was honored with 11 awards, including two first place plaques. Our composition director Kathleen Brewer won a first place award for The Mercury's classified page. This was the first competition for Kathleen, and to say the least we here at the paper are very happy, and wish her well in her success.

I was fortunate enough to win a first place award for an ad prepared for Hopkins Drug for Stetson Cologne.

Along with our first place awards we were honored with two second place awards, three third place awards and four honorable mention certificates.

One of Marilyn's ads was given honorable mention.

In the past year, The Mercury has been selected for 17 awards. This speaks well of the staff at this newspaper.

I do not have an opportunity very often to talk about the staff at this newspaper, but in conjunction with the convention last weekend in Frankfort, I'm going to do just that.

Kathleen does an excellent job in everything she does at the newspaper. Not only does she work in composition, but in many other areas of the newspaper.

Donna Anderson and Mark Fooks are working every day in the advertising department to bring you the messages of advertisers to assist you in your buying decisions. Part of their jobs entails developing the very best presentations possible.

Chip Miller, The Mercury's new writer, is doing an outstanding job and with more time in the town and county will become even a more valuable asset.

Lisa Glass is working the front desk, and in the past few weeks has proven to be just what I hired... a hard worker. She had to be... the job keeps getting bigger and bigger.

Heather Mathes, who is going to school full-time is also learning the ropes of writing and photography. The longer she's here, the more she should be able to learn.

The Bonds' oldest daughter Carol also works in the photography end of the paper, and with football season nearly over, should be back behind the lens real soon.

I'm extremely happy to have a staff, which works as hard as this one does.

The real award

At the convention I was honored by the Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association as a friend of KWA. This award is given annually to someone picked by others as a person giving to the association. To say the least, I am very proud to have been chosen.

When I gave my acceptance speech, I forgot to tell why I really won the award. It isn't really my award.

That award should go to Marilyn, for without Marilyn there would be no Hank Bond.

She has stood behind me when I have failed and pushed me to be as successful as I possibly can.

She has been there when times were at their very worst and never claims credit when things are good.

In our marriage, with our four little children, when things were at their toughest she never backed away, but stood with me to work things out.

I forgot to say all of those things when I had the chance, and although the forum is a little different, I want to say them now.

Thank you Marilyn.

And so, for another week, thanks and thirty.

Miller's Message
By Chip Miller

What is it about an open fireplace on a damp and cold October day weekend that makes it so inviting?

I don't know either. I can't decide whether it's the heat from the flames or the just the sight of the fire that warms me the most.

I repeatedly get told that if you want heat from wood you should get an air-tight stove.

But an open fireplace just suits me more. Why?

I think it's the sight of fire that really sets the mood in a person or in a room full of people.

Maybe because it's cozy, or maybe it's like mental or something. If you can see the fire then you can mentally feel the heat that's not coming off it (most of it is going up the chimney). Wonder why it's a necessity for me to have a fire on a lazy Sunday while watching football?

Could it be I'm a romantic person? My fiancé can testify when football is on t.v. I don't give her attention until the commercials.
