Area homemakers to meet in Nicholas

Nicholas County Homemakers host the Bluegrass Area Homemakers annual meeting, October 2, 1987 at the Nicholas County Elementary School.

Three hundred homemakers from Estill, Powell, Clark, Bourbon, Madison, Fayette and Scott counties will be here for this event.

The speakers for the meeting will be Sidney Farr and Sallie Odum from Berea. They will be presenting an unusual Poetry reading.

Sidney Farr and Sallie Odum come from disparate backgrounds and their poetry reflects their differences. Yet, their works have been arranged to fit together and compliment each other even while pointing up contrasts.

The two women have presented their program successfully to many audiences including the opening general sessions of the Appalachian Studies Conference, the Midwest Regional Conference of Women's Studies, the Rural Women's Conference, Elderhostels, clubs, schools in Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee and Pennsylvania.

This program of poetry and prose-poems covers their lives from childhood to the present. Moving through two very different lives, they have trials and joys in sometimes serious, sometimes humorous fashion, coming together at the end when both move to Berea.

The program's effect often resembles that of a dramatic presentation as much as a conventional poetry reading. Listeners have commented that the readings are moving and interesting from emotional, spiritual and sociological standpoints and illustrate that to the "Appalachian" can mean various things.

Sidney has two books that have been published - "More Than Moonshine", a book of recipes and anecdotes and "Appalachian Women: An Annotated Bibliography".

Sidney is editor of Appalachian Heritage, an Appalachian literary magazine, and works as assistant archivist in the Berea College Library.

Sallie was educated at the University of Chicago and Fred Coomaraswamy School of Music. She sang professionally and has continued to sing and act when time permits. In 1964, she moved to "the other side of the Appalachians" when she and her family relocated to eastern Kentucky.

She has had poetry published in national and regional publication. Most recently, she had four poems published in the New Oxford Review and has several accepted for publication in Appalachian Heritage.

Sallie is Director of Foundation and Corporate Relations in the Development Office at Berea College in Kentucky.

County and winning club scrapbooks will be displayed. Also there will be an area cultural arts exhibit. Winners from these exhibits will compete at the Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association May, 1988.

Mrs. Martha Kae Paul and Mrs. Dorothy Kimberling are the two voting delegates from the Nicholas County Homemakers.

Judge-Executive Reese Smoot will welcome the visitors to our county.

The Bluegrass Area Homemakers Chorus directed by Mrs. Jane Hodges, Lexington, will present a musical program before the business session.

The 1957 class of Nicholas County High School held a 30 year reunion on September 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Letcher with cohostess, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rose. First row, l-r: Joan (Tedder) Bentz, J. T. Hammonds, Lee (Lynn) Rose. Second row, l-r: Patsy (Morris) Malone, Gladys Kenney, Robbie Harney, Sue (Jones) Duffin, Carlos Revanaga, Imogene (Shiver) Livingood, Lydia (Davis) Burke, Janice (Morris) Daniels. Thank You

A note of thanks to the local businesses and people of Nicholas County for their interest and support in the Bluegrass District 4-H and FFA Steer Show and Sale. I would especially like to thank, Pic-Pac Supermarket, Garrett's Furniture, Farm Credit Services, Mr. Don Haney, Mr. Gayle Kelley, and Mr. Doug Garrett for their contributions to the success of the sale.

I have gained valuable experience and have had the opportunity to meet many new friends through my participation in 4-H and FFA. The beef program has been very enjoyable and rewarding and I hope it will continue for further 4-H and FFA members in Nicholas County.

Eye Openers
By Dr. Robert F. Pretzsch, Optometrist

AS EYES GROW OLDER

Everybody's vision changes with age. Between the ages of 40 and 70, these changes may be dramatic.

● The ability of the eyes to focus decreases, making it harder to change focus from distant to near objects (and vice versa). Reading without glasses becomes difficult.

● Your pupils become smaller and less light enters the eye. Eventually, it may become more difficult to see at night.

● The lens inside the eye may become less clear. In time, a cataract may form that will have to be removed.

● Reaction time slows up. It is important that your corrected vision be as good as possible to compensate for that delay.

● Side vision sometimes diminishes with age.

It is important to protect eye health to determine the cause of any vision loss. Have your eyes examined completely on a regular basis.
