PTA Spring Conference Program and took home a basketful of sporting awards.

Those in attendance for Nicholas County were: Jane Barkley, president of Nicholas PTA, Brenda Mattix, membership president, Michele Mattix her daughter and eight band members, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hemminger, principal and teacher at Nicholas County Elementary.

The Conference, hosted by Yates Elementary in Lexington with Ron Eads principal, served a catered dinner for all in attendance and the goal of $200 by raising funds served the entertainment.

Afterwards, the district officers awarded the Seventh District Scholarship Award to Todd Fowler, at Yates Creek High School classes supervised by Barbara Henney, physical education teacher, has come to a close with several students in the winner's circle.

Brenda Mattix, physical education aide said, "One hundred fifty-five students participated in the event and we gave away 88 jump ropes and 53 T-shirts for the great amount of effort that all the students have shown during the past few weeks."

"The overall total of monies brought in to donations for the American Heart Association was $3,194.20," Mattix added.

There were six placements on the winner's list, including awards from kindergarten through grade that participated in a grade-to-grade contest.

Tying for first place were two stanzas, Amanda and Carolyn Flare, with $200 each, Gary Hughes, $150, Joey Kennedy, $75, Nikki Sibert, $75 and Dixieal George from kindergarten with $60.00.

Next, Nicholas County was recognized in the membership department by the district officials. Brenda Mattix received the award for the most percentage increase in a year (22.8%) and yet another award for progress of over 300 new members.

Nicholas County's PTA overstepped its goal of $200 by raising from 183 members to 581 with a program, theme, and a string of jumping on the Love Boat. Join our PTA.

This ingenious effort involved having to find new members and finally getting the job done by those involved in PTA programs.

Faye Barkley received the President's Traveling Award for Nicholas County as they had traveled the furthest distance in the Conference.

Following was the Principal of the Year Award.

All principals were invited to come to the front and receive a certificate in honor of their service to the school. Carlisle was Principal of the Nicholas County Elementary and on top of all other schools in response to receive the Seventh District Principal of the Year Award.

Nicholas County also went in to receive an award for honor roll in the elementary category which the Gerald Hemminger Ball Ringer Award was given to Garlands School for most in attendance at the conference.

Garlands formally supported the PTA for gifts and shared the exhibit in honor of the Kentucky galleries in the latter part of April.

After the installation of newly elected officers by Betty Webster, Brenda Mattix gave the courtesy report and thanked.

Dates to remember for future PTA, School Functions are April 25-27, Kentucky PTA Convention at Georgetown, June 10-12, National PTA Convention in Salt Lake City, Utah, and July 25-29, Kentucky PTA Leadership Conference.
