Homemakers hold annual meet

By Heather Mathes
The 43rd Annual Homemakers Meeting was held at Nicholas County Elementary School April 14, at 6:00 p.m.

Homemakers from county-wide clubs such as Miranda, Edinburg, Carlisle West, Headwaters, Morehead, East Union, Baysville, Parks and members at large attended the event.

Among the guests were Bob Herder, Area Extension Director; Mr. and Mrs. Insko and Mr. Conley.

Food and beverages were provided for the banquet by members. After the meal, roll call and the approval of the year's budget were officers were installed.

Paula Insko, area chairperson, placed the officers in their new positions.

"I would like to congratulate you on your more than successful year," Insko said.

She added, "Nicholas County not only led no club this year but gained seven members and some of those were in the 30 and under bracket."

Each also stressed the importance of Nicholas County nominating officers at the area meeting of homemakers.

Neighborhood displayed in handbags and various other carrying cases, knitted handwork in sweaters, hats, pillows and furniture were present for members and guests to view at the 43rd Annual Homemakers Meeting.

KSP not selling jelly, jams

The Kentucky State Police is in the business of selling jelly and jams, so said Captain Tommy Fields, Post Commander of the Dry Ridge Post. There have been representatives of the Kentucky State Police Professional Association who are soliciting for that organization and according to the complaints to the Kentucky State Police, they have been falsely representing themselves.

When the Solicitors call, they give the impression that the money goes for drug education and child abuse, but the Kentucky State Police has no knowledge of that happening, Captain Fields said.

The City of Carlisle is seeking farm owners who might be interested in letting city sludge be spread on their land. We would need 40 acres or more for this purpose.

There would be some restriction on the use of this land while we are landfarming it.

If you are interested please contact Mayor Bentz or Cary Lester, Sewage Committee Chairman.
