Ford named to post

State Sen. Ed. Ford, D-Cynthiana, has been appointed to three special legislative panels.

Ford, a veteran of previous studies regarding hazardous waste, will serve on a new a task force on waste management.

"The task force will advise the General Assembly on ways in which the state can regulate hazardous and solid waste to best protect the health and welfare of the public, yet not overregulate industry," Ford said.

Ford will also serve on the Water Management Task Force, a panel originally established in the early 1980's to assist the Natural Reasources and Environmental Protection Cabinet in the development of a plan for the total management of the state's water resources.

"I don't think anyone will question how crucial a safe and adequate water supply is to our existence--particularly after this dry summer," Ford said. "The role of this committee is more important than ever.

In addition, Ford will serve on the newly created Athletic Association Task Force to study the appeals process for high school athletics. Ford sponsored the 1988 Senate resolution creating that panel.

The appointments were made by Senate President Pro Tem John A. "Eck" Rose, D-Winchester, and approved at the August meeting of the Legislative Research Commission.
