Sunnyside homemakers hold monthly meeting

The Sunnyside Homemakers met on Tuesday, January 19, at the home of Louise Carbert in Carlisle.

Lavina McFarland called the meeting to order. Our devotional was given by Dorothy Fryman, reading scripture a poem and readings which were very good concerning "We all have a gift." Ten members and Margie Wilson answered roll with the most exciting thing we plan to do this year.

We answered a questionnaire on the area meeting and cultural arts. Louise showed us leaflets on croqueted collars Louise had made and crafts she made.

We all were given lists of possible lessons and we were to choose 16 that we'd like to have.

We had a delicious lunch with soup. Lavina McFarland was cohostess.

Our lesson was then given by Louise Carbert on "Persevering Family Keepsakes." We were informed of many interesting things such as how to store quilts.

Reports were filled out for the past years work for statistics.

Our next months lesson is on medical update to be given at extension office, January 21 and taken by Phyllis Brady.

National guard offers help in blood drive

On January 17, 44 guardsmen from Company "D" 201st Engr Bn donated blood at the National Guard Armory in Carlisle.

The drive was sponsored by Central Kentucky Blood Center and Company "D". Contributing to the successful drive was St. Gary Stone and 1st Sgt. Darrell Sargent who helped organize the drive. The Nicholas County Blood Program is greatly aided by the community support of the National Guard.

Blood donors are extraordinary people who give a vital human resource to help patients on their way to recovery. Central Kentucky Blood Center recognizes this effort and gives awards of appreciation based on the number of times a person has donated.

Upon completing their eighth donation (one gallon), donors are eligible to receive a special key chain which is imprinted with the donors' blood type and number of gallons given. New key chains are given after completing each additional gallon. The key chain is numbered and postage is guaranteed if the keys are lost and dropped in a mail box.

When a donor reaches 10 gallons a special plaque is presented to recognize outstanding contributions to their community's blood supply.

Central Kentucky Blood Center depends on the generosity and support of the Company "D" guardsmen to help meet the increasing need for blood and blood components.

If you think you are eligible for a key chain or plaque, please let us know at the next Nicholas County blood drive.

Sams to chair local St. Jude Bike-a-thon

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Mrs. Merolyn Sams has agreed to be the coordinator of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-a-Thon in Carlisle.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is nonsectarian, non-discriminatory, and provides total medical care to over 2,200 patients.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals around the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital children who have Leukemia, Hodgkin's Disease, Sickle-Cell Anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-a-Thon program this year is dedicated to Brian McCollister. Brian, a native of Louisiana, was diagnosed with Leukemia in October, 1984. Since that time, Brian has come to St. Jude every six weeks for treatment, and every 12 weeks for bone marrow test and spinal tap to make sure his Cancer stays in remission. While at home, Brian receives oral medication daily.

Brian is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

We sincerely appreciate the concern that Mrs. Merolyn Sams has for our work, and we hope the citizens of Carlisle will support the Bike-a-Thon this Spring to help provide the funds that are needed to preserve the world's greatest asset--"Our Children".

CONTACT LENSES & SPORTS

Certain types of contact lenses are better suited for some sports than others. Soft contact lenses are an excellent choice for those who engage in contact sports such as football or boxing. They fit close to the eye and are larger than other types of lenses so they are more difficult to dislodge. If you jog or ride horses, soft contact lenses offer better protection from dust particles for the same reason.

Campers, hunters and bikers who take overnight trips may or prefer extended wear lenses. These do not have to be removed every night.

Some athletes, however, see best with gas-permeable or standard hard contact lenses because of their type of vision defect that needs correction. To prevent a dislodged lens from rolling into your game, keep a second pair of contact lenses with you. This advice makes good sense for all contact lens wearers.

ATTENTION - BOAT OWNERS

Everyone is to report ownership of a boat, pontoon, houseboat, etc. to my office. Even though you might not license your boat every year, it is to be reported for property tax purposes. I need to know if you sold your boat, traded an older boat in on a new one, or if you still have the same boat and motor as in previous years.

Since boats are not required to be licensed until the end of April, I do not always get the correct information in time to make corrections to your tax record.

Please just call 289-5460 with the information or stop by my office at the courthouse.

Kentucky's harsh winter brings many problems

Kentucky's harsh winter weather is bad news for just about everyone but especially for the most vulnerable Kentuckians--the elderly--many of whom find the sub-freezing temperatures too unhealthy to be out in and the snow-and-ice covered roadways too hazardous to travel on.

For those reasons officials of the Cabinet for Human Resources say it's important for neighbors, friends, family members and Kentucky's senior citizens themselves to routinely check on those who may be shut in by inclement weather.

"Last winter 19 Kentuckians over the age of 65 died needlessly when they go caught in weather related situations that proved more than they could handle," said Human Resources Secretary Harry J. Cowherd, M.D.

"Others ended up being confined to bed or hospitalized because they were alone and couldn't resolve problems such as adequate heating and food, a sudden illness due to the low temperatures or an injury such as a fall which made it impossible for them to go to or summon needed medical help," he said.

Dr. Cowherd advised Kentuckians who know someone who is homebound, especially an elderly person living alone, to telephone the individual a few times during periods of cold and snowy weather.

"It doesn't take much sometimes to save a life," he said. "If there is a problem, immediately contact the source of whatever help is needed, whether it's emergency medical care or a senior citizens' service agency."

Prudence Moore, director of the Cabinet's Division of Aging Services, said the state's 250 senior citizens centers are vital wintertime resources for many of the 120,000 Kentuckians over age 60 who are aided by the division's programs.

The Nutrition Program for the Elderly is especially critical to many of our older, low-income clients as their only hot, nutritionally-balanced meal on a cold day," Moore said.

Other services such as transportation for senior citizens to the centers, to shopping centers, to doctors' offices and else where is in great demand when ice and snow make streets and sidewalks less then inviting," she said.

Moore said the centers can also be used as referral services on other problems facing elderly Kentuckians.

Even if the center doesn't have a direct service than can alleviate the problem, the staff should know the community and what other resources are available to an older resident in need of help," she said.

Cowherd said, "We all face inconveniences when freezing temperatures or snow impede daily activities. But life-threatening hazards such as hypothermia, frostbite, hunger, and immobility can be fare more dangerous to an older person, alone and hampered in his or her ability to cope with the natural problems of the winter.

"We need to keep these folks in mind and to act so that someone doesn't die simply because no one knew they needed easily accessible help."

In The Kitchen

As Americans are a flirtatious group. A few years ago, we had a love affair with Nouvelle Cuisine and, suddenly, small portions of foods made their appearance on large white plates, creatively garnished and designed to satisfy the eye, whether or not they filled the stomach.

Then there was stir-frying and creative cooks from coast to coast found themselves in the kitchen newly outfitted with woks and cleavers, and with sauces for all black beans, sesame oil and chili paste taking over their pantries.

When pasta was the rage, pasta machines made their move, making it easy for even novices at the art to crank out perfect homemade lasagne noodles, in a rainbow of colors (which, in turn, could be cut into smaller pieces and used for ravioli or tortellini or kept whole and used in--guess what!--lasagne).

In their strong regional flavors, combined with assurance, and in their appealing presentation, amply depicted in photo after photo, Emmerling exemplifies what is, for her, the heart of American country cooking, as well as what has made her, with her clearly delineated vision, one of the foremost prophets of this relaxed yet artful style which has grown, with the beauty and tenaciousness of wildflowers, out of America's fertile soil.

Below, reproduced from "Mary Emmerling's American Country Cooking" are recipes for Scalloped Potatoes and Ham, one course of a Fireside Supper for Two at Sue Ellen and Steve Johnson's in Springboro, Ohio, and Beef Tenderloin with Madeira Sauce, perfect for a crowd, the main course of a Homegrown Farm Dinner at Mary Ann Watt's in Fredericksburg, Texas.

Scalloped Potatoes and Ham

4 large potatoes, peeled and parboiled
1 large onion, thinly sliced
1 to 2 pounds thick-sliced ham steaks
6 tablespoons (3/4 stick) unsalted butter
1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
3 cups milk
3 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons powdered mustard
1 1/2 teaspoons Worchester shire sauce
1 1/2 tablespoons dry sherry or dry vermouth
Salt and freshly ground black pepper

Preheat the over to 350 degrees.

Slice the potatoes medium-thin. Separate the onion slices into rings. Cut the ham into large chunks. Layer the potatoes, onions, and ham in a large casserole.

In a heavy saucepan, melt the butter over moderate heat. Add the flour and cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from the heat and stir in the milk. Return to moderate heat and bring to a boil, whisking constantly. Cook over moderate heat for 3 minutes, whisking all the time.

One cup at a time, add the cheese and stir well until it has melted. Add the mustard, Worcestershire sauce, and sherry and season with salt and pepper to taste.

Pour the sauce over the potatoes, onions, and ham and bake for 45 to 60 minutes, or until the potatoes are cooked through and the top is browned. Serves 4.

Beef Tenderloin With Madeira Sauce

2 garlic cloves
2 tablespoons unsalted butter, softened
1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme
1 4 to 5 pound beef tenderloin
1/2 Madeira1 cup beef stock or broth
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour blended with 2 tablespoons softened unsalted butter (beurre manie)
Salt and freshly ground black pepper

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees F. Crush or finely mince the garlic and blend well with the butter and thyme. Rub the mixture all over the meat.

Folding the thin end of the fillet under, place the beef in a roasting pan, and roast for 20 to 35 minutes, or until a meat thermometer registers 120 degrees F. for rare or higher for more well-done meat.

Remove the beef to a platter and cover with aluminum foil to keep it warm. Place the roasting pan on the stove top and add the Madeira and beef stock.

Deglaze the pan over moderately high heat, scraping up the brown bits that cling to the bottom, and cook until the sauce is reduced by half, 6 to 8 minutes.

Turn the heat to moderately low, stir in the flour and butter mixture to thicken the sauce, and simmer for 8 to 10 minutes to cook the flour. Taste and season with salt and pepper. Serve the sauce over warm sliced beef. Serves 12 to 16.
