Livingood meets pen pal from Canada

Diane B. Livingood has a special day on July 4. She saw her pen pal of twenty-five years from Canada.

This was their second time they had seen each other, the first time was 21 years ago in 1967.

She got acquainted with her pen pal by picking out names

Through the years, however, Livingood has realized

In a teen magazine when she was 17, she saw a picture of a Canadian, she picked first, received so many letters and shared some with her friend Jane Beanson and that is how the friendship all started.

Jane McKenzie, her husband, Bob, and children, Karen, Ian, and April decided to visit Kentucky for part of their vacation.

Arriving in Kentucky on a space rack with a specially made spoon regarding Canada on it. They also gave Brian a Blue Jay Cap.

Jane and her father, Mel brought the Livingood gifts, a spoon rack with a specially made spoon regarding Canada on it. They also gave Brian a Blue Jay Cap.

I learned a lot about my friend while she was here and had a lot of catching up to do over 21 years. I learned she was going back to work as a physical therapist after her youngest child got to school and that her husband was a corporate counselor in Ontario," stated Livingood.

In addition Livingood hopes that, "They had a very good time and enjoyed their visit here very much and are having fun on their visit to Cumberland Falls, before returning home."

That many things have changed, and with her life of finishing school, getting jobs, getting married, and having children, they only had time to write at Christmas.
