Nicholas native Anderson in world series

Georgetown in Idaho for NAIA championship

By Heather Matheson
AP Sports Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - Eleven years ago Marvin Stringfellow wasn't sure he was in the right occupation. He had completed his first season as head baseball coach at Georgetown College with a forgettable 7-28 record. "I wondered if I wanted to be a coach again after that," Stringfellow said in a telephone interview Tuesday night. But 10 years and 272 victories later, he has Georgetown playing in the NAIA World Series in Lewiston, Idaho, taking on top-ranked and defending champion Lewis-Clark State in the double-elimination tournament last Friday. Nicholas County native Steve Anderson, who is finishing his career with the Tigers at first base, and junior outfielder Troy Kuhl topped the team with 392 batting averages. Brian Donshaw, who only became a starter seven games before the playoffs, is hitting .397 but doesn't have enough at bats to qualify for the lead. Steve Anderson's three-run home run highlighted a six-inning game for Georgetown. Lewis-Clark State eliminated Winona State University from Minnesota 10-3 in the NAIA World Series in baseball. Georgetown (40-10) was scheduled to meet the loser of Monday's game between Grand Canyon College and Central Washington. Grand Canyon won 10-4, Tuesday. Winona State finished with a 36-18 record. For the second straight game, Winona helped speed its own demotion by committing six errors on the day, three in the first inning. The Warriors produced six errors in their 9-5 loss to St. Xavier of Illinois Saturday. Georgetown's base runners were 11-11 in stolen bases. Because of the rain over the weekend, officials pushed the final games back one day to Friday, with a championship game set for Saturday, if necessary. It was the second series game for Georgetown. The Tigers opened play against number one ranked Lewis & Clark State. After jumping to an early 5-0 lead, the Tigers allowed some late runs and dropped an 8-8 decision to the top-time defending national champion. The Tigers are hitting at .212 and .269, which rank among the top 20 in the nation. Since the humble beginning, Stringfellow's teams have won 10 Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles and nine NAIA District 32 championships. "We have been successful and that's encouraging," said Stringfellow. "We feel like we're slowly but surely building a winning program here. This season the 18th-ranked Tigers have compiled a school-best 49-10 record in making their first-ever trip to the World Series. "I didn't think we'd be this good at the start of the season," said Stringfellow. "I knew we'd have a good club, but this was a rebuilding year. When you have to depend on freshmen, you don't know how they will respond." Two freshmen have made big contributions for the Tigers. Sophomore right hander Terry Parker carries a 10-4 record, including complete games and relief victories in the playoffs, and junior left hander and outfielder Donshaw earned most valuable player honors in the district tournament after going 10 for 17 at the plate, with three triples and two doubles and seven RBI. "We've normally had in the past," said Stringfellow. "He's across the board for us. Every body has done a good job. They pick each other up." "We've been crushing the ball, particularly in the district and area tournaments," said the Georgetown coach. "That's surprising because you see better pitching in the district than at the start of the season. We've been averaging 15 hits and 10 runs in the playoffs. If you do that, you'll be in most games." The pitching also has been effective all season long for the Tigers. "But our players have been released this week and I expect them to respond well. I don't think it will bother them." And he likes his Tigers in the tournament. "You never know until you get there," said Stringfellow. "Georgetown is extremely excited about playing in the national tournament. Sometimes teams play in a way of the games and don't play up to their potential. "But our players have been released this week and I expect them to respond well. I don't think it will bother them." And he likes his Tigers in the tournament. "I think I'd be overly optimistic today we're going to win it," said the 41-year-old coach. "From what I understand, it's going to be whose hat at the time. We have as good a chance to win as anybody else."

Cruse holding third annual basketball camp

By Heather Matheson
The Carlisle Mercury Staff
Although school is out for the summer, training and conditioning for athletic events for the next year has only begun. Fourth graders through incoming freshmen, which amounted to about 30 people, participated in a basketball camp conducted by Head Coach Lee Cruse, Junior High Coach Bobby Storie and Head Girl's Coach Barbara Kenney May 23 through the May 27. Coaches for the camp included, David Wells, David Sparks, Andy Anderson and Danny Sibert. "The camp is in it's third year of operation," Cruse commented, "I think it'll have been the best year because the kids seem to know more, meaning, they know what we expect from them and know what to expect from themselves." Although the camp is primarily a "fun" activity it has purpose. "I think our number one priority is to have fun, but also to teach the fundamentals of basketball and to sharpen those that have already been learned. "The camp also gives me a chance to get a better idea of who the kids are, get to know them better personally and know what kind of potential they have and what areas that potential will take.

Cruse will be operating a boy's summer league and will be playing 18 games at Nicholas County. Some opponents will include, Paris, Clark, Deming, Bath and Estill. "For female athletes, a conditioning and basic practice and drill camp will be held June 6-10 and will be conducted by Barbara Kenney. Applications may be obtained from the office at Nicholas County Elementary.
