Michele Clark of Carlisle, a sophomore pre-occupational therapy major at Eastern Kentucky University, has been selected to join EKY's Student Alumni Association. Students are selected on the basis of leadership, dependability, and academic performance. Membership is open by invitation only. Student Alumni Association members serve as hosts and hostesses at University functions, as guides during Alumni Day tours of the campus, and as ambassadors for Eastern to groups both on and off campus. At left is Lilly Jennings, assistant director of alumni affairs at EKY, and at right is Debbie Dawson, a senior elementary education major at Eastern and the 1985-86 Student Alumni Association president.

She also received the Presidential Classroom for Teachers award and major in pre-veterinarian medicine and eventually gets her Ph.D.

She also has been active in the Student Alumni Association and is currently a member of the National Council of High School Agricultural Societies.

During mid-May Guthrie and his mother, Phyllis Guthrie, traveled to Langley, Virginia at a Delta flight to the original space center.

Guthrie explained that the first seven astronauts that included Al Shepard, Gus Grissom and John Glenn trained at the Center in Langley.

NASA's main center has since been moved to Texas. Guthrie added, "When Lyndon B. Johnson was a President he moved the research center which was advantageous politically as that was his home state."

While there the Guthries took a tour equal to that of a Congressional Tour. On Monday, May 16 the Guthries assembled in Hotel Shuttle to catch a NASA Shuttle to the Langley Research Center.

Once welcomed the entire group of science fair winners was taken to the NASA Research Center.

Guthrie reaching for personal goal

By Heather Mathes of the Carlisle Mercury Staff

Many students dream about the future of careers but, goals, at times, seem completely out of reach.

However, one Nicholas County High School student, Josh Guthrie, has managed to reach his goal and realized it was not impossible. Guthrie was enabled to visit the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Research Center through participating in the Regional Science Fair held at Morehead State University and receiving the N.A.S.A. Award.
