Plagaaay Ball - Oh, yeah!

With the greening of the grass, and the peaking out of the sun on a regular basis, it's time for the All-American pastime of baseball.

Lots of little boys, from 4 to 44 will be dressing in mid-leg pants and pulling on some baseball stockings for a big nine innings.

On and on the baseball season will go, but wait, how can it be baseball season? There's too much basketball left.

State tournaments, national tournaments, and the NBA playoffs in mid-summer. Have we lost all track of time?

Will Dr. J. return to lead the Reds to the world series? Will Pete Rose hit a three pointer at the buzzer?

Here's a tidy solution to the problem. Let's convert all outdoor stadiums to indoor stadiums, a trend, which has swept the country.

Then, expand them a little. We could put a basketball court in the center of the infield; suspend it from the roof; and play during between 1/2 inning breaks.

Since most games are televised, this should work out REAL WELL. As you know, there is a television timeout every five playing minutes of a basketball game.

Next, set-up schedules for all of the games to run year-round. We could even raise ticket prices. They get

Miller's Message
By Chip Miller
It's good to see such close, working friends

It's good to see the Carlisle-Nicholas County community embrace a new industry with such open arms as happened last Wednesday morning.

I attended the open house the Carlisle-Nicholas County Industrial Authority had in honor of Magic Image, Inc., the newest industry to open a factory in Carlisle.

I'm proud to say nearly all the business community and city and county government officials showed up for the event.

That showed REAL community support for the infant Carlisle business.

The open house began by Magic Image's representatives displaying samples of their designs and some of their printing.

They also described and displayed the method of screen printing, designing pasted colored patterns on sweatshirts.

The company's overall operation was described to the audience as well as what its future plans were - expansions, employment and goals - and a little of how all this included Carlisle and Nicholas County and its residents.

A good working relationship was established that day. One that, I feel, will become a mutual collaboration between our community and its newest member for both of our benefit.

Let's hope this newest member of the Carlisle-Nicholas County business 'family' is just the bud of a whole group of incoming businesses which will profit every Nicholas County.

With the reception Magic Image, Inc., received Wednesday, I can't understand what could be holding back other businesses from checking out this community.

$40 - $50 bucks for some big games, so average it all out and we could get, oh, say, $35 for every baseball game.

Just think of the advantages! Those who work in the concession stands would only have to work 1/2 the time. Car parkers - attendants in the big city - would have their schedules cut in half.

And, since the cars would occupy spaces twice as long, charge twice as much.

Television and radio people could get big raises for calling two games, and newspapers could buy another camera to shoot all of the action.

How would the officials work the games? Simple. Since most of them give every appearance of not knowing the rules, in either sport, they must let them jump on the basketball floor from the baseball field between innings.

More, pay, too, for umpires, or should we call them, umpirefiremen? Stay tuned, this could use some development.

And so, for another week, thanks and thirty. With every good wish to you. Now, let's PLAY BALL!

Editor: In keeping with my promise to you, to keep you and your readers informed on the progress of my Kentucky Farmers Feed Program.

First I would like to review what the program would do for Nicholas and surrounding counties. My program would put those funds to work.

I have been a pleasure to serve the people of Nicholas County. I have been a pleasure to serve the people of Nicholas County. I have been a pleasure to serve the people of Nicholas County.
