First Baptist Church fundraiser planned to fight CF

Heading Nicholas County effort

The youth of The First Baptist Church are currently involved in heading up the Nicholas County effort to help fight a known killer--Cystic Fibrosis (CF).

CF continues to kill more children and young adults in this country than any other inherited disease. Approximately 30,000 young people in the U.S. have CF. In order to inherit the disease, a child must receive two CF genes, one from each parent.

Twelve million Americans (one in 20) are unknowing, symptomless carriers of the CF gene. There is no test to identify who among us carries the CF gene. The only positive identification is when a child is born with Cystic Fibrosis.

Although CF is the number one genetic killer of children, major advances have been made in narrowing the search for the gene which causes CF and in understanding the workings of the cell.

In 1955, when the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation was established, few children with CF lived to attend elementary school. Today, more than half are living into their early twenties--still more can be done.

Your donations are needed to continue the fight to cure CF and stop the killer. The Baptist Youth have placed canisters in many of the local businesses. Please look for them and drop in your change.

On Saturday, May 14, donation booths will be set up at Pic-Pac, Foodtown, and the West End Market. Please stop by and offer your support.

The Chairman for the Nicholas County fund drive for CF is Kevin Thomas. Please call or write him at The First Baptist Church, 289-5293, for more information about the Nicholas County effort. Together, we can stop the killer.
