YOU'RE WELL EQUIPPED TO DETECT A GAS LEAK.

Fortunately, natural gas leaks are rare. But if one should occur, you have everything it takes to spot the telltale signs...the ability to see, hear and smell.

Look or listen for these signs. Anywhere a gas line is located, a leak may cause:

- a slow or hissing sound
- dirt being blown into the air
- water bubbling or being blown into the air at a pond, creek or river
- brown patches in vegetation on or near a gas line right-of-way
- a fee coming from the ground or burning above it

If you detect any sign of a leak, follow these steps quickly: 1) Shut down any motorized equipment or other sources of ignition in use; 2) Leave the area all once, and warn others to stay away; and 3) Find a telephone away from the area to call the gas company, and the fire and police departments. DO NOT try to extinguish a gas fire or operate any pipeline valves.

Chances are you'll never need to recognize a natural gas leak. But just in case, we think it important for you to be able to detect signs of trouble. Together, we'll keep natural gas service safe and efficient.
