By Heather Mathes
The Carlisle Mercury Staff
This has been a year of traveling though not willing to get far from home or have an immense back account, my new rest peacefully because remodeled motel open for occupancy.
Mrs. Beascraft said, "When we started with the project there was really much work that had to be done since the motel stood empty for two years."

The R & S Motel was bought on January 26, 1987, by the Lawson family after the previous owners retired after 28 years on service.
With the help of managers who made in the back end of the motel which has been made into a house, Judy and Tom Beascraft, the motel has been totally renovated.
Mrs. Beascraft said, "Some renovations are still in the process of being completed. There are a still in the process of being completed. There are a still in the process of being completed. There are a still in the process of being completed."

What are some of the renovations that have been completed?
"We painted inside and out, put in new bedding, new carpet or linoleum all the way through, painted furniture and had to redo a utility room," said Mrs. Beascraft. "Some renovations are still in the process of being completed. There are a still in the process of being completed. There are a still in the process of being completed."

"Plus, we are about the only motel within the range of Lexington through Maysville which makes us in the perfect location for those visiting Carlisle and Paris," said Mrs. Beascraft.
The managers also estimated business will pick up considerably since summer season is very close. R & S is open 24 hours a day.
