Class takes final step; May 22, 1988

By Heather Mathes
of The Carlisle Mercury Staff

The Nicholas County Graduating Class of 1988 will take a final step forward Sunday, May 22, and receive their final reward and perhaps the most prized symbol of achievement from Nicholas County High School—the diploma.

As the processional of graduates begins with the Nicholas Band sounding out "Pomp and Circumstance," it may seem to many like an end to 12 years of hard work, but those first steps are only the beginning.

The beginning of a life of success as the first milestone has been reached and overturned, sometimes with a little trouble, but none the less overcome. The National Anthem will also be played by the Nicholas County Band under the direction of Shawn Parrish.

Lee Hardin, member of the National Honor Society and the Class of 1989 will give the invocation for students, parents faculty and friends. After the welcome by the Principal at Nicholas County High School, Greg Reid, the class address will be given by Dr. Fred Hood of Georgetown College. Hood received a BA from Georgetown College in 1960 with a major in American Religious History, an MA and Doctorate Degree from Princeton and a Bachelor of Divinity from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in
