For Hughes: Not just a job, but an adventure

By Heather Mathes
The biggest job for the Hughes was dismantling the barn and moving it to the previous site, located behind the spot where Bradley Schandinger's residence presently stands.

Another local craftsman, Donald Selvae, also proved a valuable addition.
Whoever thought that transforming a house would be in the same vein?

Shearer went to Albion College from 1970-79 as Director of Operations and as Director of Liberal Arts Program in Professional Management until 1979.
