Nicholas County man knows exactly how whales felt

By Julie Pfeiffer
The Carlisle Mercury Staff
Maurice "Pete" Reid remembers a time when he felt like the whales at P. Barrow in Alaska...

Reid remembers the streets were made of wood, most of their machinery was obsolete and they still worked the fields with horses.

At that time carried a center-fold. "These Russian women would wild over those women in bathing suits," he said.

New Carlisle resident raising triplets

By Julie Pfeiffer
Mrs. Carlisle Moore says
In 1984, after two stillborn sound tests, Debbie Thompson was prepared for the fact that she would be having twin boys.

They were good babies, she said. If one would out, they all would eat. If one would out, they all would eat. If one would out, they all would eat.

They play well together, she said, adding, "People around here tell me I've got my children under four."

Vaccine expected.....

there is still plenty of time to get the vaccination, he said.
A week ago, a service representative from Parkes-Davis gave Zachary an estimate of two weeks. He expects the shipment in mid-November.
At highest risk for the flu are the elderly, whose immune system is weaker. An immunologist with the Centers for Disease Control said the flu shots are needed by middle to late November, which gives them plenty of time after the vaccine arrives in Nicholas County, as Zachary said.

Eye Openers
By Dr. Robert F. Pretzsch
Optometrist
WHAT'S NEW IN CONTACT LENSES?
A new type of gas-permeable contact lens may be used for those patients who have not been able to satisfactorily wear soft contact lenses in the past. Fluorinated plastic has been added to the polymer material of the lens, which keeps the lens cleaner and wester. It also allows more oxygen to go through the lens, permitting longer wearing times and greater comfort for some users.
In another improvement, ultraviolet absorbers are now used in the manufacture of some soft contact and gas-permeable lenses. The idea is to prevent ultraviolet rays from entering the eyes during normal contact lens wear. Though they add an element of protection from the sun's rays during routine wear, they are not adequate for those days when you spend long periods of time in the sun, or if you work under artificial light which produces a significant amount of ultra violet rays. Under those circumstances, it still makes good sense to wear quality, sunglass over your contact lenses.
Next time you replace your contacts, ask your optometrist about these new improvements.
