Until it says it on the ballot there's no guarantee lottery money will go to education.

On November 8th, you'll be asked to vote on the lottery issue.

Those who are promoting the lottery say education will benefit from the proceeds. But the ballot says nothing about designating the profits, if any, to Kentucky's schools.

In most states that have lotteries, the money goes into the general fund, where it is spent as the legislature and governor see fit, not necessarily how the voters would use it.

Before we begin a lottery, let's get the education issue in writing on the ballot, where we can all vote on it. And make sure we get what we want.

After all, when it comes to something this important, doesn't it make sense to get a guarantee?

On November 8th, vote NO on the lottery amendment. Vote NO until we get it in writing.
