NICHOLAS CIRCUIT COURT
CASE NO. 88-CI-067
THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK, CARLISLE, KENTUCKY PLAINTIFF
VS: NOTICE OF SALE
ROGER D. FULTON AND BRENDA F.(FULTON HARRY DUNCAN; FIFTH THIRD BANK OF SOUTHERN OHIO DEFENDANTS

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Nicholas Circuit Court entered in the above styled action on October 19, 1988, the undersigned Special Commissioner will on the 12th day of November, 1988, at or about the hour of 10 a.m., at the Site of Parcel No. II, in Nicholas County, Kentucky offer for sale to the highest and best bidder, the following described property:

PARCEL NO. I:
Lots No. 47 and 48, Section C, Lake Carnico Estates, Nicholas County, Kentucky, according to the plat thereof, of record in Nicholas County Clerks Office, Deed Book 60, Page 523.

Being a portion of the same property conveyed to Roger D. Fulton and Brenda F. Fulton, husband and wife, by Betty T. West, a single person, by deed dated May 11, 1987, of record in Deed Book 78, Page 126, Nicholas County Clerks Office.

PARCEL II:
A certain tract or parcel of land which includes a 1979 Marion 70' x 14' Mobile Home (No. 1696), and contents thereof, permanently attached thereto and being a part thereof, lying and being in Nicholas County, Kentucky, and more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point in the margin of the Hickory Ridge Road, thence N 67 deg. 30' E 100.0 feet to a point; thence S 15 deg. 35 E 262.0 feet to a point; thence S 30 deg. 30' W 224.2 feet to a point; thence N 37 deg. 40' W 82.5 feet to point; thence N 8 deg. 30' E 242.5 feet to a point; thence N 18 deg. 30' W 108.5 feet to the point of beginning, containing 1.00 Acres, and referred to as Lot No. 3 in the plat of Phillip Coldiron, of record in Deed Book 71, Page 243, Nicholas County Clerks Office.

Being the same property conveyed to Roger D. Fulton and Brenda F. Fulton, husband and wife, by Harry Duncan, a single person, by deed dated January 9, 1985, of record in Deed Book, 76, Page 203, Nicholas County Clerks Office.

(The lots in Lake Carnico Estates shall be sold first, then the 1.00 Acre tract on Hickory Ridge Road, with mobile home and contents.)

Upon sale of the above described property, the purchase price shall be payable as follows: Twenty per cent (20%) on day of sale, with balance on a credit of thirty (30) days for which the purchaser shall be required to execute bond, with good security, dated as of the date of the sale and bearing interest at the rate of twelve (12) per cent per annum until paid, same to have the force and effect of a Judgment, upon which execution may issue if same is not paid at maturity. As security for the purchase price the Special Commissioner will retain a lien against the real estate to secure payment of the balance of the purchase money. The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying cash upon approval of sale by the Court.

All unpaid taxes and assessments against and real estate for the years 1987 and 1988 shall be paid from the purchase money.

Following the sale of the above described property, the Special Commissioner shall report his actions to the court. Said report shall be held over for a period of ten days for confirmation or exception and anyone desiring to object or except to the sale shall do so by that time or be barred forever.

James P. Brannon
Special Commissioner
Nicholas Circuit Court

OUR HERITAGE

The Sickles Case

One controversy that has been filatured in the news in recent years is the issue of criminal defendants pleading not guilty by reason of temporary insanity. Considering the history of the plea, this is no surprise for it began with one of the most scandalous crimes in American history committed within sight of the White House.

The first defendant to plead temporary insanity in an American courtroom was Congressman Daniel Sickles of New York, who in 1859 shot and killed Philip Barton Key, son of the author of "The Star Spangled Banner" and a nephew of the chief justice of the Supreme Court. Key was the U.S. Attorney (prosecutor) for the District of Columbia and was considered one of the most handsome men of his age. Sickles was outraged (and with good reason) over the close relationship between his wife and Key.

The congressman confronted Key, who was strolling along Lafayette Square near the White House, and fired several shots, killing the unarmed attorney. Sickles then walked to the home of the attorney general of the United States and surrendered.

Sickles was imprisoned and public sentiment ran strongly against him. But he was not without friends. President James Buchanan had always liked the fiery New York congressman. Informed of the murder by a White House page, the president immediately gave the young man money to leave town, an apparent attempt to remove a damaging witness before the inevitable trial.

For his defense, Sickles had New York's finest criminal attorneys as well as the brilliant Washington lawyer Edwin Stanton, later to achieve fame as President Lincoln's Secretary of War. They successfully argued that Sickles, who often broke into sobs during the trial, had been rendered temporarily insane by his rage. When the jury came in with an acquittal, Stanton danced a jig in the courtroom.

The cheering quickly died for Sickles, whose political future was bleak. Ironically, public opinion turned against him not so much over the murder but that he refused to divorce Mrs. Sickles, who remained his wife until her death eight years after the scandal.

Yet Sickles did not fade into obscurity. He entered the U.S. Army during the War Between the States and rose to the rank of major general. At the Battle of Gettysburg, Sickles disobeyed superiors and ordered his men forward. Although many military experts consider his maneuver a mistake that could have proven disasterous, Sickles always believed he was responsible for the great victory.

His leg shattered by a Confederate cannonball, many of Sickles' men believed him to be mortally wounded. To counter that rumor, he jauntily smoked a cigar as he was carried from the field on a stretcher. For his bravery, he was later awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. He died May 3, 1914, at the age of 94. ld
