PERFECT She hasn't missed for 50 years

By Julie Phifer
Of the Carlisle Mercury Staff
Pansy Ring, of Moorefield, has attended Sunday School and church every Sunday for 50 years. While she has been attending the church.

Interestingly enough, Ring taught herself how to play an organ. An old church organ was for sale, and her father bought it. The instrument came with a book, and from that book she taught herself to play.

Ring is a 1928 graduate of the Carlisle City School and worked at the Deposit Bank in Carlisle and Moorefield for a total of 37 years.

She estimated that she has about 25 nieces and nephews that sit in "real food."

One thing Ring doesn't care for is television.

"There are so many awful things you see on there," she said.

Pansy Ring Hughes's grandson acts in Lexington play

The Lexington Musical Theatre will present "Oliver" at the Opera House in Lexington November 17-26.

The Tony award-winning Broadway Musical, based on Charles Dickens' Oliver Twist, also later became a Best Picture Oscar-winning film.

The show is known for such memorable tunes as "I'd Do Anything for a (Big) One" and "You've Got to Be Careful, Who You Fool or Are Fooled by."

Tickets may be purchased at Joseph-Beth Bookellers at the Lexington Green or by calling (606) 255-9488. Reserved tickets are $5.00 for children, $8.00 for senior citizens and groups of over five people (paid in advance), and $10.00 for general audience.

The lead character Oliver will be played by Brian Yarborough.

The youngest member of the cast is Eli Thomas, a second grader at Stonehill Elementary in Lexington. Eli is the son of Mark and Melinda Thomas and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sadler, Carlisle.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Hamilton. Maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. E.C. Duncan all of Carlisle.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sadler, Carlisle.
