Mason County hands .....

Continued from Page 11

The Jackets got the ball back and had a first down at the Mason County 43.

Johnson went left for 18 yards, William Workman carried twice to set up a first and 10 at the Mason County 10.

Workman had an eight yard carry off right tackle to give Nicholas a second down at the two yard line.

Workman went around left end for the touchdown and with 7:07 to play in the first half, Nicholas County trailed 12-6.

Mason County took the kickoff and moved from the Royals' 43 to playdirt in eight plays, when McDowell hit Faulkner in the end zone with 3:25 to play.

Litzinger carried in for the two point conversion and Mason County held a commanding 20-6 lead.

Nicholas County was not to be denied.

Starting on the Mason County 39, after a fine return by Johnson, Nicholas took seven plays to hit paydirt.

The drive was keyed by a 26 yard pass from Andy Anderson to Mathes, at the five, which covered 26 yards. Anderson was forced to come into the offense as signalcaller, when Brown was injured during the roughing the passer play.

Johnson went to the line twice and Workman once, but the Jackets failed to cross the goal line.

On fourth and goal from the Mason County 3, Johnson bulled ahead, through the Mason defense, for the score. A two point attempt from Anderson to Mathes was incomplete, but with 42 seconds to play until intermission, Nicholas County had cut the Mason lead to 20-12.

Mason County failed to score in its final three plays of the half, and Nicholas went to the lockerroom trailing 20-12.

"We knew we would have to continue putting pressure on the ball," NCHS, Head Coach Robbie Barr said. "We had been able to manage two good drives in the second quarter and put ourselves back into the game.

Although Nicholas County had managed one of its best offensive quarters of the season in the the second quarter, Mason County's defense did the job in the third frame.

Nicholas County drove deep into Mason County territory, but another interception stalled the Nicholas game.

Mason County held possession most of the final six minutes of the third quarter and had the ball as the final quarter began.

Nicholas County's defense stiffened, and the Jackets got the ball back at their own 23.

Although the Jackets were able to pick up a first down when Brown connected with Workman, Nicholas County could get no closer than the Mason 43, before turning the ball over on downs.

Mason County drove the ball at will, with Greene carrying for eight, four, and 26 yards to have the ball first and goal at the five yard line.

Scott Doyle carried it the final seven yards for Mason County's touchdown and the Royals held a 26-12 lead after the conversion attempt failed.

Greene tacked on another score for Mason County with nine seconds to play in the game on a 15 yard run and after Mason County added a two point conversion, the Royals had set the final margin at 34-12.

"We are playing well in spots and poorly in spots and we just don't seem to be able to advantage of certain situations.

"We're going to have to concentrate more on our game plan and as always execution is extremely important," concluded Barr.

TINTS
Not all tinted lenses are sunglasses. However, some tinted lenses that are not sunglasses offer comfort to people who are sensitive to indoor light. This is especially important in offices and factories where fluorescent or unshielded lighting is in use. These tints are available in many shades and degrees of darkness to meet the individual's personal needs for vision comfort. The tints may be added to single or multifocal lenses of either glass or plastic.
Some light-sensitive people prefer a gradient tint, one that is darker on the upper half of the lens and has less or no color in the reading or lower portion.
Some men and women choose tints to complement their complexions, wardrobes or moods. They choose to extend the color excitement of their eyeglass frames. But it is important to remember that these tinted lenses will not necessarily offer protection from ultraviolet sun rays.
