Social Security
Q. If all I want is a benefit estimate from Social Security, how do I get it?
A. There are two possibilities. If you are over 60, you can call on any Social Security office and they can give you an estimate of your Social Security retirement benefit while you are on the telephone or in the office. If you are not under age 60, you can call 1-800-937-2000 and request the Form SSA-7004. By completing and mailing this form, you will receive an estimate of your Social Security benefits upon retirement. You will also receive a projection of the monthly benefits you spouse and dependent children would get if you died or were disabled.

Correction: In a picture on last week in The Carlisle Mercury, the young girl feeding the palmated owl, Bud Lico, is not Trisha Feedback, as was reported, but Trisha Vico, granddaughter of the owl's owner, Norma Feedback.
