Thomas promoted to Ensign

More up, not out. Ensign Navy. That's the slogan. There's a sailor aboard the USS Iowa that believes that and will be paid for his belief in God bullion? Gold doubloons? No. Gold bars. Former Chief of Electronics Mate John D. Thomas put on Ensign bars, October 1.

He is the son of Jack G. and Wilma G. Thomas of Hazard and the sister of Jan Crawford of Carlisle.

Ensign Thomas was selected for Ensign through the Limited Duty Officer program. This program enables enlisted personnel to become officers without a college degree.

The LDO program is an excellent way for an enlisted man to get commissioned, said Thomas.

Thomas was assigned to USS Iowa (BB-61) in February 1989, Norfolk, VA, and was the leading petty officer in E-

Division in the engineering department. The Iowa was deployed to the Baltic and Mediterranean Seas, June 1989. He was aboard the USS Iowa when the deadly explosion occurred.

Thomas and wife Elizabeth have two sons, Robert, 4, and Andrew, 1, and reside in Virginia Beach, VA.
