Social Security Administration

Question: I have recently opened a small business and will employ a small staff. What is the procedure for reporting their earnings to Social Security and paying the Social Security tax?

Answer: You should obtain an employer identification number from IRS and complete a form 941 and send the form along with the appropriate tax payments to IRS.

Wages, income tax amounts, and Social Security taxes are reported on that form.

It is very important that your EIN be entered correctly as well as the wage and tax amounts.

You must also submit a completed Form W-2 for each employee at the end of the tax year and send them to SSA with a Form W-3.

Make sure that your EIN and the wage and tax amounts agree with the information given on the Form 941.

Also make sure that the name and Social Security number of every employee is correct.

DRY EYES

Q. What is meant by dry eyes?

A. Dry eyes are generally caused when the glands under the upper lids reduce their production of tears. When the amount of tears is substantially reduced, they do not spread across the eye when you blink and, therefore, do not keep the eye moist. Tears also help regulate temperature and the lack of normal eye moisture produces a burning sensation.

Your optometrist can measure the amount of tear fluid secreted by the tear glands with a simple test. A special strip of paper is placed under the lids for a given amount of time and the quantity of wetness is then assessed. If the production of tears is inadequate, "artificial tears" may be recommended. In cases where there is an extreme shortage of tears, a soft contact lens may be suggested to help keep the eye moist and prevent burning and discomfort.
