Plan happy, healthy party

Host the perfect holiday party this year for you and your friends. Toast a truly happy, healthy and safe new year. "Don't be a 'poor' host," says Kathy Gross of AAA.

"Parties planned this time of year can be fun for all," stated Gross. "All it takes is a little thought and preplanning."

AAA offers the following suggestions for party hosts:

-Make non-alcoholic beverages available and be certain that everyone knows where they are.

-Help guests pace their drinks. The liver can only metabolize one drink per hour. Don't rush to fill glasses. Let guests mix their own drinks."

-Focus attention on food. It slows the absorption of alcohol. High-protein foods such as cheese and meats are especially good because they stay in the stomach longer. Avoid salty or highly-seasoned items as they increase thirst.

-Remember that beer, wine and hard liquor all "Pack the Same Punch." A 12 oz. can of beer, a 5 oz. glass of wine and a 1 1/2 oz. shot of hard liquor in a mixed drink all have the same intoxicating potential. Beer and wine simply have more water added to the alcohol in each serving.

-Mix "Spiked" punches with a non-carbonated base. Alcohol is absorbed much faster when combined with a carbonated mixer.

-Divert attention away from the bar. Keep guests circulating with games, conversation or dancing. Set an example yourself-don't overindulge.

-Stop serving alcoholic beverages an hour before the party ends. Bring out a tempting non-alcoholic drink in addition to the coffee or tea.

-Encourage one person in each group to be a designated driver. Award a small gift to the person who decides not to drink and there by assure a safe ride home for other guests.

-Convince guests who have had too much to drink to stay over. If this is not convenient, arrange transportation with a sober friend or call a taxi.

Think of what you will do before-hand so you won't have any surprises and will be able to handle a situation with authority. Remember--only time can sober someone up!

Tourism Talk

Before December gets away and a new year begins Tourism, Inc. congratulates the Carlisle Lions Club for their colorful and entertaining Christmas Parade on December 1. Many groups participated in the parade to make it one of the highlights of the Christmas season.

Tourism, Inc. is proud of its participation with the float "A Victorian Christmas Homecoming". Mary Jo and Doug McCord, Pearl Campbell, Pam Randolph, Julie Metzger, Gladys Shrout and Betty Bussell worked on putting the float together. Jack Clinkenbeard pulled the float in the parade. Janie Duncan and grandson Duncan, Michael and Lindsay Ockerman, Esther Myers and granddaughter Ashley, Mallory Caswell, Matt Cohorn, Pearl Campbell, Lydia Wilson and Gladys Shrout rode on the float and later helped to disassemble it.

Tourism, Inc. is especially pleased to have received the third place award for its efforts.

Congratulations also go to Loretta Mann for sponsoring the Christmas Bazaar and Craft Shop and to Doug Garrett for hosting the event in his building. The quality and variety of items for sale were enjoyed by many shoppers and browsers.

With the Christmas parade and the annual Christmas Bazaar kicking off the Season, Tourism, Inc. hopes that in the next several years additional Holiday happenings will be planned throughout the days/nights before Christmas.

To add to the events this year, Tourism Inc. sponsored its first Holiday Open House Tour on Saturday December 15. Four homes were opened to visitors for their enjoyment. Many thanks to G. C. and Esther Myers, Kenneth and Mary Catherine Knapke, David and Sharon Wilson and Cecil and Gladys Shrout who graciously allowed their homes to be on display. Thanks also to Dorsey Watkins for his willingness to provide carriage rides for the evening.

The Nicholas County High School Academic Team took on the faculty from Nicholas County in an academic competition Friday afternoon before the entire student body in the school gymnasium. The faculty team included administrators from the Nicholas County School System as well. The extra help was of no benefit to the faculty as the academic team defeated the faculty team, 77-68. The academic team's next competition will be the Eastern Kentucky Invitational Tournament in Pikeville.

Student of the Week

Janella K. Sibert has been named Student of the Week at Nicholas County High School.

Janella is a 16 year old junior and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sibert of Carlisle.

Janella is involved in many extracurricular activities. She participates in the academic team, the Drama Club, FHA, the student council. Janella also serves as junior class secretary and as basketball statistician.

Janella said she was very surprised and honored to chosen student of the week.

Janella plans to attend college after high school and is undecided on her course of study.

Homemakers meet

The East Union homemakers met Thursday night at the home of Sue Bell.

The meeting was called to order by Elsie Ruth Burden. Pearl Campbell read a devotional followed by a prayer from Margie Wilson.

We answered roll call by "What have you done to prepare for Christmas." There were eleven people present.

We addressed Christmas cards to shut-ins and filled some sunshine boxes for people in nursing homes.

We had a Christmas story read by Pearl. We had a gift exchange and refreshments were served. The meeting adjourned.

Bromagen holds birthday party

The Nicholas County Senior Citizens visited the Nicholas County Elementary School last Friday. Youngsters sang Christmas carols for the senior citizens after dinner. Friday was an active day for the elementary school. The elementary school held a concert and sent 25 students to a Rotary Club dinner. The concert was performed by the high school band and was attended by the elementary students. Students in the third, seventh and eighth grades have also been involved in writing letters to the Marines, soldiers and sailors serving in Saudi Arabia as part of Operation Desert Shield
