Louisville, KY.-- The United States Army Reserve has awarded the 1990 Army Reserve National Scholar/Athlete Award to David Sparks and Chrisa Auxier from Nicholas County High School.

Annually, school administrators and faculty select and nominate one male and one female high school student to receive the award based upon the student's academic and athletic standing. The Army Reserve recognizes their outstanding achievement by presenting each winner with a bronze Olympic-style medallion.

The Army Reserve's sponsorship of the National Scholar/Athlete Award is part of its continuing commitment to recognize the outstanding academic and athletic achievements of the nation's youth.

Last year, more than half of the country's high schools participated in the program. And, since the program's inception in 1981, more than 100,000 high school students have been recognized.

What Jesus Taught By: George L. Rogers

The way one feels does not determine that he is a Christian. Just because one is religious does not prove that he is a Christian. Our feelings can deceive us. The people who crucified Christ were religious. Many religious people through the ages have persecuted the Lord's church. An emotional upsurge and a 'religious experience' are not proof that one is a Christian. The heart of man is deceitful above all things. (Jer. 17:9) The way that one can know he is a Christian is the same way that he can know that Christ is the Saviour. We know that Christ is the Saviour by the instruction and information that we find in the Bible. We know in the same way that we are Christians. When we do the same things that the people of the Bible text did to become Christians, then, and only then, we will know that we are Christians.

One certainly feels good if he has the assurance of God's word that he has obeyed the Lord. Certainly, nothing could make one feel any better. But even one's feelings are then not the proof that he is a Christian, but the proof is God's word. The fact that one has obeyed the gospel of Christ is the proof that one is a Christian! Many think they are Christians who say they 'got saved' by faith only and experienced an emotional upsurge, and they say after they were saved they were baptized into some human denomination. One cannot be saved before being baptized into Christ, and the baptism that Christ commands will not put one into a denomination, it will put one into his body which is His church which we read about in the New Testament. In the Bible believers were commanded to be baptized in order to be saved. (Mk. 16:16.) Baptism was necessary to reach the blood of Christ. (Rom. 6:3,4) They were not told to be baptized because they were already saved. One's feelings come as a result of what he believes, and what one believes comes as a result of what he hears. One might hear false doctrine, and believe it, and be just as good as the one who hears, believes and obeys the truth. Have you heard and obeyed the truth? (1Pet. 1:22) The truth is what Jesus taught. And, that is what he commands you to believe and obey.
