What Jesus Taught

By: George L. Rogers

A study of the Bible will show that good morals alone do not make one a Christian. Some think that one is a Christian if he is a good moral person. However, just because one pays his debts, loves his family and friends and is a good neighbor, does not mean he is a Christian according to the Scriptures.

Truly one must be a good person morally to be a Christian. One who is a Christian should grow in their good qualities of life. But to become a Christian one must believe and obey the gospel; he must do this regardless of how good he is.(Mark 16:16, Acts 2:38.) The eunuch that Philip baptized was a good man in many respects before he reached the blood of Christ and had his sins washed away. He was a man of great authority. He had charge of all the treasury of a great nation of people. He was doubtless well educated and an intelligent man. The Scriptures show that he was a religious man; he had been to worship and on his way home he was reading his Bible. He was a gentleman and an honest man. He was an inquiring man and humble at heart,but the Bible states that he was a lost man! (Acts 8:26 -40.) He was lost in spite of all these good moral traits. Even though all these things were true of the eunuch, he had to hear the gospel, believe it, and go down into the water and be baptized into Christ where he could reach the blood of Christ.

Now, that which we have shown concerning the eunuch in Acts the 8th chapter is also true of others in the New Testament of your Bible record such as Saul of Tarsus, and Cornelius (Acts 9, 10.) But they too and others like them had to obey the gospel before they belonged to Christ and his church. Many in the world today are depending on their good qualities to save them, and they think they are Christians because they are good morally. But before they are Christians they will also have to humbly submit to Christ in obedience to his will and be baptized into him.

If you have not obeyed the gospel, you should! If you have not obeyed the gospel like the eunuch and others you are not a Christian. (2 Thess. 1:7-9.) This is what Jesus taught. (Mark 16:15, 16)

Jones in Challenge program

BEREA, KY-Craig Jones, a student at Nicholas County High School was one of the 51 participants in this year's Challenge Program at Berea College on June 10.

The program included two four week education programs for high school students with strong academic backgrounds.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray Hones, 121 North Broadway.

The students earn college credit through intensive studies designed for exceptional students. Courses offered include wildlife biology, mathematic structures in computer science and a new computer graphics course offered by the Art Department.

The Science Focus program, which is designed to prepare black students for college studies in science-related fields, has 14 participants.

The students, after completing the sophomore year of high school, participate in two courses-mathematical problem-solving and reading and study and reading and study skill. Students also participate in off-campus zoological and botanical field trips and use the college's laboratories, planetarium, geology museum and other facilities.

The Science Focus participants will be invited to return next summer for the college's Challenge Program.

Hardwick volunteers for duty

Sgt. Joe Todd Hardwick, son of Mrs. Helen Hardwick and the late Earl Wayne Hardwick, has volunteered for the Special Forces Assessment and selection phase at Fort Bragg, to begin on August 7, 1990.

The course is three weeks long and consists of tasks which challenge the soldiers mentally and physically.

Upon completion of the phase, selected candidates will be chosen to enter into the qualification course for special forces soldiers.

The course is brokep down into four separate fields, and consists of training periods ranging form six to 18 months.

The four fields of training includes weapons, demolitions, medical surgeon, or communications.

Upon completion of the soldiers chosen field and a graduate of the course, the soldier is awarded a special forces tab, and most importantly, a symbol worn only by the most elite in the U.S. Army, "The Green Beret".

Sgt. Hardwick is currently assigned to a long range surveillance detachment, (LRSD) at Fort Bragg, N.C., with the 82 Airborne Division.

Among attending special forces training, Sgt. Hardwick has completed military training in the following courses during his military career; combat engineer, infantry, airborne, air-assault, pathfinder, ranger, military freefall school, the long range surveillance course, and special reactions training.

Upon completion of special forces training, Sgt. Hardwick will be assigned to seventh special forces group at Fort Bragg, and will be assigned to work in all areas of South America.
