Open House scheduled November 4

Area citizens will have the opportunity to take a closer look at The Church of Jesus Christ Latter-day Saints on Sunday, November 4, with the church premieres a new film and hosts an open house at the Owingsville Ward Chapel on KY 36, one-half mile south of I-64, Exit 121.

The new film, entitled "The Prodigal Son," is a modern-day depiction of the well know biblical parable of the same name and will be shown at 6:30 p.m., according to Wayne Manley, a local lay leader of the LDS church.

Manley said the 30 minute film has a strong message for today's world.

"The film portrays the story of a man who has just returned home after spending months in a rehabilitation center and the reaction of his family to his return.

"It is a drama that shows how choices affect us and how we can all benefit from accepting the teachings of Jesus Christ," Manley said.

Following the film, guests may view displays or attend workshops in the church which feature discussions about families, the purpose of life, Jesus Christ and the Book or Mormon.

"We want to invite all of our neighbors and non-member friends to visit with us at this open house," Manley said.

The membership of the Owingsville Ward includes more than 450 persons in Bath, Menifee, Montgomery and Rowan counties as well as part of Nicholas County.

Alex, Pixie, Ray, Kennetha, Brittany Haggar, Kenny Crucher from Lexington; J.R., Mary Sue, Pam Kern and Kevin from Lexington; Boo, Kristen, and Geslie Kern from Lexington; Mary Lou, Brenda, and Latonya Jackson, William Mitchell from Carlisle.

Plus, Rev. Clay Jolly and wife Elizabeth from Ohio; Dennis, Amabell, and Troy Jolly from Ohio; L.C. and Susan Jolly from Ohio; Elsie and Susie Mitchell from Millersburg, Chuck and Bradley from Millersburg.

James and Alma Carter from Nicholasville; Punkie Ballard from Lexington; Bobby and Bonnie Mitchell from Carlisle; Lisa, Natasha and Marlena Brummett from Lexington; Ronnie and Ronnie Curtis, junior from Lexington; William, Tina, and Sharlee Mitchell from Maysville.

Five generations in all attended.

NCHS team is ranked fifth

The Kentucky Academic Association's Top 10 for the week of October 22, 1990.

1) Dupont Manual 2) Caldwell County 3) Sheldon Clark 4) Tates Creek 5) Nicholas County 6) George Rogers Clark 7) Graves County 8) Fleming County 9) South Oldham 10) Russell.

Nicholas County's academic team achieved two first ever feats this week as they defeated Fleming County and Lewis County. It was the first time Nicholas County has defeated Fleming or Lewis, according to academic coach Kathy Green.

The scores were as follows:

Nicholas County 115, Fleming County 108.

Top scorers for Nicholas County were: Anna Koury, 25 in Language Arts and 23 in Humanities; Todd Wilson, 22 in Math; Brian Tanupp, 20 in Science and 23 in Social Studies.

Nicholas County 130, Lewis County 101.

Top scorers for Nicholas County were Anna Koury, 26 in Language Arts and 23 in Humanities; Todd Wilson, 24 in Math; Andrea Hall, 19 in Math and 21 in Science; Robyn Buckshire, 18 in Math; Jill Hardin, 21 in Math; Brian Canupp, 20 in Science and 24 in Social Studies.

Blood donors needed, November 5

Volunteer donors are the supply-patients are the demand. Central Kentucky Blood Center and the Nicholas County Hospital have scheduled the fifth blood drive of 1990 in Carlisle for Monday, November 5, 1990 at the hospital Conference Room from 2-7 p.m.

At least 45 donors are needed at this drive.

The goal of Central Kentucky Blood Center is to provide a safe and adequate supply of blood and blood components to 57 Kentucky hospitals and clinics.

The demand for blood increases daily as medical research leads to development of new therapy and surgical procedures. There is just one source for the blood patients need, the volunteer donor.

Volunteer donors are people like the ones who give regularly in Nicholas County.

After the blood donation is completed, it is taken to CKBC's laboratory where it is carefully tested, processed, and distributed to area hospitals ready for the patients use.

The amount of blood available for transfusion is directly related to the amount recently donated. Meet the growing need for transfusions in area hospitals. For more information or to make an appointment, contact Sally Bishop at 1-800-432-9528.

Board to dedicate state, US flags

The Nicholas County Board of Education will conduct ceremonies to dedicate the new flag pole erected at the central office on Friday, November 9, 1990 at 2 p.m.

Senator Ed Ford of Cynthiana will present the system with a Kentucky State Flag that has flown over the State Capital Building and a ... representative of Congressman Larry Hopkins will present a U.S. flag that has flown over the Capital Building in Washington, D.C.

The flag pole will be dedicated to a decorated veteran of World War II.

The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremonies.

Tourism Talk

In the last several weeks, nature has provided a spectrum of autumn color. With the hillsides ablaze with hues of yellow, red and orange the countryside offers a beautiful portrait for the leisure traveller.

One does not have to go outside the county to enjoy scenic roads which invite a peaceful break from the usual routine. Although many local citizens daily travel the county's roads it is worthwhile to take a drive with no destination in mind and no schedule to meet. With the mind freed from these pressures the eyes are able to take in the beauty which is a natural part of the area.

Using Carlisle as a starting point travel north on S.R. 33 towards Flemingsburg. The road will wander through valleys and hilltops. A shorter scenic route is over the Lake Road to U.S. The trees edging the lake provide a scene more lovely than any artist's rendering. Another route leads from Carlisle to Moorefield. It gives several points of high elevation viewing. From here the county stretches for miles beyond. The Lower Jacktown Road also encompasses beautiful scenery. Any one of these roads have scenic county roads which intersect them. An afternoon drive through Nicholas County can prove to be relaxing and peaceful.

Tourism, Inc. wants you to remember the Antiques and Quilt Show this weekend at the National Guard Armory. Proceeds go towards the rehabilitation of the old county jail building. Come out and support Tourism, Inc.'s efforts and enjoy the quilts and antiques.
