Eagles enjoy homecoming victory

By Hank Reed

MOREHEAD — It was homecoming Saturday at Morehead State this evening and the Eagles' football team had no intention of letting the alumni dream.

Helping eagle Governor for Austin Pray (TN) University early in the game, Morehead never looked back in posting a 34-7 win.

The win lifted Morehead to 1-4 overall and 1-2 in the Ohio Valley Conference. Austin Pray fell to 0-6.

With black clouds looming overhead, the entire afternoon was filled with heavy rain. MSU senior Chris Swartz, the Bath County product, connected on 23 of 34 passes for 313 yards and three touchdowns, to lead the Morehead offense to a game total of 415 yards.

Jerome Williams was the target of Swartz' short passes no less than 10 times for 83 yards and one touchdown (a 20 yard strike), leaving him just four receptions short of the MSU record.

"There's nothing I can say about Chris Swartz that hasn't already been said," MSU Head Coach Cole Proctor said in the press box after the game.

"He's just a tremendous player — and he's got his shot in the press."

Jerome Williams is simply an all-around player. He finished the game with 70 yards rushing and 83 yards in reception. He's a hard worker. He does everything we ask of him and never complains.

Morehead took the lead with 7:56 to play in the first quarter as Swartz found a streaking Anthony White on the right corner of the end zone for 34 yards out. White, with arms outstretched, grabbed the pass from in front of Williams' defenders and the noise was on.

Morehead's first point after kick was blocked, as Craig Here attempted to kick the point for the Eagles, the snap was bad and the play never really got off the line.

The Eagles were flagged 16 times for 140 yards, while the Governors were hit 10 times for 97 yards. The 237 yards in penalties may be an OVC record.

"I'd hate that," Proctor said. "We'd just have to look at the film and see what happened. We can't have that in close ball games."

Morehead took possession of the ball with five seconds left in the first quarter and made quick work of moving inside Austin Pray end zone.

Facing a fourth and 14 at the Austin Pray 30, Swartz found Dave Pique near the end zone and Morehead was on top 13-0.

Morehead tried a two-point conversion which failed as a half and drove 54 yards in four plays.

This was the Swartz to Williams touchdown pass, which gave Morehead an 18-0 advantage.

With a failing kicking game, which included at missed field goal from 32 yards out in the first half, including one to Williams, had 227 yards at intermission.

As the second half opened, it was more offense for the Eagles. Stopping the Governors on their first possession, the Eagles took just two plays to score again. Swartz hit Pique with a 44 yard completion to give the Eagles a first down at the Governor's 20.

Williams took the hand off, got a strong blocking effort by the MSU line, and scampered 29 yards for the score.

Craig Here came on the add MSU's first successful point after kick and with 12:49 to play in the third quarter. MSU led 25-14.

On MSU's very next possession, the Eagles drove 64 yards in 11 plays, capped by Here 25 yard field goal to lead 29-0.

Again Here added a 24 yard field goal with 54 seconds left in the quarter to make it 31-0. Morehead.

Here came on one more time with 14:42 left in the game to tack on a 30 yard field goal and add to MSU's advantage.

Leaving 34:0, a Morehead mistake led to Austin Pray's only score of the afternoon.

The Governors recovered a fumble at the Morehead 11 and three plays later Dave Hillman carried in from one yard out and Steven Munnell added the point after to cut the Eagles lead to 34-7, and that's how the game developed.

"We felt if we kept the Austin Pray quarterback Kaitik Munter bottled up we would be able to control the game," Proctor said. "We were able to contain their offense most of the afternoon."

The Morehead defense led by Dan Browners with nine tackles, got to Munter six times for sacks and controlled the line of scrimmage most of the afternoon.

Lions passed the ball down the field well before the Nicholas defense could halt the march on its 25 yard line. On fourth and 11, the Lions went for the first down, a pass across the middle was intercepted and went for the touchdown.

The two-point conversion failed and Nicholas County led 30-6 with 9:17 left to play in the game.

The latter stages of the game was highlighted by the running of reserve halfback Chris Compton. Following a line company made of junior varsity players, Compton was able to pick up good yardage on several plays. His best came on a 24 yard touchdown run with 1:27 left.

The point-after attempt was blocked and 36-6 was the score at the time ran out.

Nicholas County Coach Greg Lecher felt the ability of Nicholas County to run the ball well made the difference in the game. The coach praised the offensive line and said it dominated the line of scrimmage.

Lecher also felt the Nicholas County defense did a good job. "We worked on the option all week," Lecher said, "and we did a job job of forcing it into the middle and clipping it up."

Lecher praised the defensive secondary for coming up and making big hits on the Lewis County backs but was probably happy with the team's mental performance.

"I'm proud of the team because they bounced back from last week," he said, "they weren't down."

CARLISLE — The Nicholas County Bluejackets go on the road Friday night for a crucial district game against Bath County.

"This is our most important game in the sense of trying to get into the playoffs and having a winning season," Nicholas County Coach Greg Lecher said in a Monday afternoon interview.

Bath County, 6-2, has played a schedule very similar to Nicholas County's. The Wildcats have lost to Paris and Fleming County, two squads which have also beaten Nicholas County.

Kans traveling to Owensville on Tuesday to see Bath County emphasize ball control. "They've always been a ball control offense," Lecher noted. "Their keys for going for it on fourth down and two seasons ago they didn't punt once in the first five games of the season."

On defense, the Wildcats play the wide tackle six. "The Bath County kids do a really good job in this defense. They use it in the fourth and fifth grades all the way up through high school. They have good technique and really carry out their responsibilities and assignments."

Lecher stated Bath County was a quality opponent he enjoyed playing and added it was a big game for many of his players who had relatives on the Wildcat squad.

For Nicholas County, win, Lecher said has team can't make any mental mistakes at 8 p.m.

While Morehead's win was convincing, Proctor did everything to keep from removing his score up.

"We did pass home at the second half when we needed to come to watch, but we kept the ball on the ground as much as we could."

"It was a good win for us. We played hard. It's been amazing to watch these kids work so hard, especially with the stress that we have faced."

Morehead has had a safety as 30 players identified in some games with flu, mononucleosis and injuries.

Morehead returns home Saturday to entertain Sanford University from Birmingham at a 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

Morehead entertains Samford

MOREHEAD — Morehead State University's football team will put its modest one game winning streak on the line Saturday afternoon at entertaining Sanford University.

The Eagles, 3-4-7, winners over Austin Pray last weekend, are 3-4 in the year, in 1990.

The Bulldogs defeated Fayetteville State Saturday, 31-10.

Common opponents for the squads include Tennessee Tech, 23-7, winner of Sanford and a 2-4-7 winner over Morehead, and Austin Pray, a team MSU defeated 34-7 and one which Sanford picked up a 28-9 win.

The overall series is tied at 1-1, with Sanford winning 16-17 in Morehead in 1988 and the Eagles won in 1989 15-26 in Birmingham.

Sanford snatched victory from defeat in 1988 with a touchdown inside the final minute of play. The extra point made the difference.

MSU had a busy season in 1989, before Sanford rallied with 1:35 left to tie the margin to seven points.

Ted Darby, Sanford's quarterback, hit 26 of 46 passes last year for 329 yards and two touchdowns.

Clear Answers to the Common Myths About Mammography and Breast Cancer

MYTH #1: I don't need a mammogram if I don't have any symptoms.

FACT: Mammography can detect breast cancer up to two years before you or your doctor can detect a lump.

MYTH #2: These (mammography) are cancer in my family, so I don't need to worry about getting it.

FACT: Eighty percent of women who die of breast cancer have no family history of the disease... one out of ten women will get breast cancer.

MYTH #3: I don't need a mammogram unless my doctor says I do.

FACT: Don't wait! The National Cancer Institute (NCI) recommends the following guidelines for women 40 and over.

Once you turn 40, have a mammogram every 1-2 years.

Starting at 50, have a mammogram every year.

Make sure your doctor gives you a breast exam once a year.

Examine your breasts monthly.

MYTH #4: I had one normal mammogram, so I don't need another.

FACT: One is not enough. Women age 40-49 should have a mammogram every year or two, from age 50 on, they need a mammogram once a year.

Mammography can detect breast cancer when it is in its earliest, most treatable stages.

MYTH #5: Mammography gives off unsafe levels of radiation.

FACT: The radiation exposure from mammography equipment is very small. It is far more dangerous to allow breast cancer to go undetected than to be exposed to the very low dose of radiation.

MYTH #6: Mammograms are painful.

FACT: A mammogram is simply an x-ray of your breast. Although the procedure may cause slight discomfort, it does not hurt.

MYTH #7: If a mammogram does find something, it's too late.

FACT: When breast cancer is found in its earliest stages, your chances of surviving are at least 90 percent or better.

If you have any questions, call NCI's free Cancer Information Service at 1-800-CANCER.
