Mercury Vapors

By Warren R. Fisher
Retired from 1967

A few of Carlisle's merchants are attempting their second annual Sidewalk Sale. Of those who expressed any reason for not joining their fellow businessmen, the remark heard most often: "I'm afraid someone will steal an item."

Of course we think it's just an excuse to not spend a nickel advertising, but maybe things have deteriorated this much. After all, it was a lot of bull-doozery somebody swiped recently. -MV-Types can slip into ads even on the best staffed newspaper. One of the dailies carrying an advertisement on Lake Carriers stated: "Park the wife and children under a shade tree off on the beach while you 1978 Carsons's stamule beach." Boy, that's a lot of beach. No fooling though, the lake does have appreciably 6-months of shore line. -MV-

I hope others have better luck with this problem and a problem it can be. It's a case of making a decision. Do I go before or after lunch?

Well to make a long paragraph short: "I went before and after flailing the water of Lake Carriers with plastic night travelers. Thank goodness, supper (green beans,

Carlisle makes attempt for Certified Cities

Planning, chaired by Jerry Galbraith.

The three remaining committees will focus on city utilities with Gayle Vanlandingham with Water, Gene Kelley with waste water treatment, and Mary Topp handing solid waste management.

Approximately 33 counties have applied for certification this year, Howard said, which has kept the Certified Cities teams very busy.

A certified city lends a great degree of prestige to a community. It shows potential industries and companies are working to make improvements to the community. Three times is supposed to be a charm. I hope it will be for Carlisle," Howard said.

POLICE LOG

Kennedy/Smith Police reports are provided by Trooper Jim Delwick, public affairs officer of the Dry Ridge Post of Kentucky State Police.

Trooper Tim Layne has charged Jeffrey Buckler, 40, of Carlisle, with possession of marijuana with cultivation of 39 plants for purpose of sale and possession of drug paraphernalia. Arrest occurred 6:20 a.m. on Locust Street and struck the right rear of Johnson Road. Both were turned over to Nicholas County transportation officers.

Johnson takes reins at Blue Licks

By John Shepherd
The Carlisle Mercury Staff

Blue Licks - Blue Licks State Park will be more than battlefields to its new superintendent, Bob Johnson. It will also be the early stages of establishing a park and knifing show at the Center later on this year, he said.

Most exciting of all, though, will be the re-working of the traditions to begin sending my stuff down."

Instead of simply the re-vestment, the park will present the Simon Kenton drama from the novel by Marion Waggoner in which the Blue Licks Battle will play a major part of the action.

"The reenactment will be much more extravagant than before with the help of the Maysville Players Association. I think people who are used to coming to see the battle performed in years past are in for a good surprise," Johnson said.

"We have a pool which is jammed with guests almost every day this summer. The Carlisle stick market was steady Tuesday with 2284 head passing under the auctioneer's hammer.

BORN: To Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wiley, a son, July 24, 1941.

MARRIED: Louis Munford to Jo Ann Mitchell, July 16, 1941; Raymond S. Frederic to Annie M. M. Minton, July 24, 1941; Fredrick to Emma Collins, Friday in Shapsburg.

interested in setting up a display booth should contact him at the Blue Licks office, Johnson said.
