TheJockey International charitable Doll Dressing contest and its "Toys for Boys" had its biggest participation this year with enough entries to split the contest between the Knitting and Sewing plants. The winners of the contest in the Knitting plant are, from left to right, Janice Pryor, fourth place, Judy Thompson, fifth place, Carol Mann, third place, Nick Fluck, second place, and Mary Fryman, first place. Company-wide Jockey plants dressed 1,344 dolls, all of which will be shipped to needy children as gifts for Christmas. Jockey intends to continue to have their numbers continue to grow as more and more plants sponsor similar contests.

Jockey International Knitting Plant General Manager Bascomb Sorrell watches judges Esther Myers and Gladys Shrout, of the Nicholas County Tourism Inc., and John T. Sullivan, host of "Sullivan's Travels" on 27 NewsFirst, with a sense of relief, free of the difficult decision of choosing the winners in the annual Jockey International Dress Up Doll contest at the Knitting plant. In a sense, everyone who participated was a winner in this contest because through their efforts, some needy children will have very special Christmas gifts this year.
