Group discusses economic problems

By Susan L. Helling... The Carlisle Mercury Staff... While the Kentucky National Guard continues to have a positive economic impact in Carlisle, the Business After 1 January meeting conducted a lively discussion about other economic factors and problems... Concern was expressed over six vacant store front buildings... The reasons are many and varied: building conditions, sales and our mobile society... As long as there is a Wal-Mart only 15 miles away, the volume is too competitive for our area...

GENERAL NEWS

Companies have cut workers working families of this country... The war has caused speculation... Lexington - Companies have cut their workers by some 230,000, according to the latest statistical reports of the Federal Government's employment outlook... Nationwide, unemployment in January, 1991, rose to 6.2 percent from the December, 1990, rate of 6.1 percent... The effect is international... The lowering of the interest rates causes the dollar on the world market to decline and this increases the rate of inflation at home... However, it does cause foreign companies to purchase dollars in the United States, which raises our import levels. The rates must be kept in balance in order to have an economy that has a sound core... All this falls upon...

When the "down-sizing" began in 1989, continued the next speaker... Colonel Jim Johnson of the 100th Ft. Knott, centers were to be cut... It is particularly important to note the vast majority of the financial resources that support the Guard come from outside Kentucky and multiply many times as they cycle through various levels of the economy... Carlisle's unit, Co D, 301 Engineer Bn, has 145 in strength and has had a positive economic impact of $502,887 upon the Commonwealth... The Kentucky National Guard offers the largest number of part-time employment opportunities in the state, while also maintaining a substantial fulfills force... In addition, construction, maintenance, fuel purchases, utility use and acquisition of supplies add significant income through the state... Speaking to members of the Kentucky Press Association during its convention January 18-23, 1991, Brigadier General Davidson said, "1100 of Kentucky sons and daughters are actively participating in Desert Storm... One-half are in Saudi Arabia... and the other one-half are en route and will be in theater by the end of January, there will be more."

Session an historic event

By Mark K. Chelgren... Associated Press Writer... FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) - "Batch" Burnette... But many of the significant issues will likely be resolved and a historic impeachment trial should show that work has finally begun in earnest in the fourth week of the special General Assembly session... Impeachment proceedings will not formally begin until Wednesday when the Senate takes up the ouster of Agriculture Commissioner "Batch" Burnette... Monday during a conference between the prosecutors appointed by the House and Burnette's attorney... The pre-trial conference is likely to determine the crucial questions of what evidence will be presented... Continued on Page 16

ED'S PET SHOP NEEDED QUICK RESULTS. THEY CHOSE NEWSPAPER.

Only newspaper can reach virtually an entire retail market at one time... That's its impact... And that's the kind of advertising power you need for quick turnover... Television and radio can take days and even weeks to get your message to everyone... That's why newspaper is clearly the choice when it's sales you want multiplying... Not inventory... Newspaper. It delivers. THE CARLISLE MERCURY 289-2464
