

Brides and grooms to be... tradition with a '90s flair

Advance planning helps to ensure your dream wedding

It's all about saving money—even the wealthy are careful not to splash extravagantly in these tough times. Of course, there are certain occasions in which money, and lots of it, is necessary in order to make a lasting, memorable, and forever treasured impression. Birthdays, holidays, promotions—all are very special and important, but also routine in that they are a lifetime. The singular glorious ceremony that is your wedding. And, although the wedding day is a precious one, and perfection is the ultimate goal, spending thousands of dollars and knowing you will regret it, not the answer, it will only result in poor marital bliss.

Saving, not skimping

It is nice to have a wedding with traditional touches, but this does not mean stretching your budget out of bounds and because you have a preconceived idea of how a wedding "should be." Don't be afraid to go against the laws of etiquette and invent your own ideas for your wedding in order to reduce the impact on your already slim wallet, your valuable time and, most importantly, your sanity.

Best kept secret of a bride to be

Did you ever wonder how you could be able to enjoy your own wedding day? Now there's a value designed to eliminate pre-wedding stress and wedding day jitters. This special video, "How to Plan the Wedding," will help you to plan a flawless wedding day, step by step.

Hosted by Debra Hesse, this is the only wedding video ever endorsed by The Association of Bridal Consultants. At $29.95, it comes with a free Wedding Planner that works along with the tape, so you can keep track of your progress. On the back cover, a Video Inventory gives you an easy reference point to review special occasions on the tape that you may want to spend extra time viewing. And, as a special gift to you, we've included the shipping and handling charges so you can enjoy the video.

TAKE THEIR BREATH AWAY in this beautifully hand beaded "pure silk satin" sheath from Bridal Originals for spring 1992. The V-shaped neckline long sleeves open diamond back and detachable chapel train are sure to make your groom smile as he waits at the altar for you.

Return to elegance

JOYOUS CELEBRATIONS begin with bride and groom both looking great. Her crystal taffeta and re-embroidered lace gown is designed by Michele Paccione for Alfred Angelo Brides. Her choice, the Romance Cutaway and striped formal trousers from the Lord West Crown Collection, is perfect for a daytime wedding and reception. His wing collar shirt, paisley patterned ascot and dove grey double breasted suit reveal elegant style of the past.
