Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON - A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally sound "meat" food tablet would help ease weight-loss problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

"Although other studies and scientific may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant-based compound, caused people to lose weight, even though they ate the same amount of food as before, according to a report published in the British Medical Journal of Nutrition.

Researchers in an earlier study had concluded that the weight loss was due to an increase in the intestinal absorption of calories.

The development of the product called Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fill its original goal, the formula which has been developed with other natural products has been a downfall for overweight people.

"I think the whole team contributed a great deal to the winning effort. In January variety action the Lady ran their record to 9-0 with a 46-29 win over Madison Central. Tara George led the junior's with 11, Alicia Albert and Schandling led 8, Jennifer Willoughby & Michelle Hopkins 5, Becky July 3, Tawny Livingston and Tina Fryman 2.
