

Bicentennial Quilt is on display

The dark red and green colors were chosen because many old quilts were made of dark colors. The quilt consists of sixteen squares, nine pieced or appliqued and seven embroidered.

From left to right: The first square features the Homemaker's emblem, the state bird, cardinal and the state goldfinch. This square was made by Pearl Campbell, East Union Club and Lena Williams, Carlisle West Club.

The Ohio Star square was made by Dorothy Sanday of the Miranda Club. This is a very old pattern. Zigzag sets beloved by early quilters can give intricate patterns an extraordinary look.

The Colonial Rose square was pieced by Anna Mae Gilligan of the Starway Club.

The Bear Paw square was pieced by Elizabeth Caywood of the Carlisle West Club. The Bear Paw pattern is said to have come from Florida de la Cruz. The tracks were often found in the snow or mud of wooded farm land.

The Air Castle square was made by Don T. Gimes of Park Club.

The Stone Tavern square was embroidered by Rachel Martin of the Carlisle West Club. This was always been a popular quilt pattern.

The North Carolina Lily was made by Dorothy Sanday, Mt. Vernon.

The 17th Century square was made by Anna Mae Gilligan, Starway Club. This square is often seen in the collection of the Carlisle West Club.

Forrest Forest square was embroidered by Rachel Martin, Mt. Vernon and rectangle, square and hexagon were made by Anna Mae Gilligan, Starway Club.

The quilt was made by the Carlisle West Club and the Carlisle West Club. The quilt was made by the Carlisle West Club and the Carlisle West Club.

Retreat" by Henry Clay. The nine patch square was pieced by Dorothy Neal, the first Home Economics agent for Nicholas County. The nine patch is often the first choice of many quilters beginning their piecing skills because it is so easy to make. The quilt was made by the Carlisle West Club and the Carlisle West Club.

The Home Cabin square was embroidered by Rachel Martin of the Carlisle West Club. This square is often seen in the collection of the Carlisle West Club.

AUCTION

Friday Evening, July 17 6:00 p.m.
119 West Main St., Carlisle, KY

TRACT 1

This c. 1886-87 three story brick home at the corner of Elm & West Main Streets is on the National Register of Historic Homes and was built by Dr. Nelson McNew as a residence and office. In later years, it became known as the Henderson Hotel, a well known Carlisle Boarding House. This historic home offers many potential uses, and is situated on a commercial lot, app. 80 x 68'.

TRACT 2

This parcel has alley access off of Chestnut Street and includes a one room, one bath, log cabin with a stone fireplace, a garage with concrete block foundation (app. 14 x 20), and a concrete block storage building. The cabin reportedly was moved to its present site from the old East Union Road ballpark, where it served for many years as a football locker room for the Carlisle High School Muskies. Cabin is retired for $95 per month. Buyer must install new electric and water meters. City gas is metered separately.

TRACT 3

Hard to find, unimproved, zoned commercial, Main Street, App. 33' x 78', with an offset. This tract offers a rare opportunity for the construction of new office space or other uses.
