A very strong balance sheet and to have the financial resources to meet the burden," Miller said.

In order to facilitate the renovation, the nursing home will have to have a place built for residents to move, he said. They cannot do such major renovations with residents in the rooms, he said.

The extra space the new addition would give the nursing home has many strong possibilities.

"In a business, you cannot operate without putting your profit back into the business. Change and improvement must be a constant practice. If not, then you end up making all the improvements at one time and it takes a bigger hit out of your money," Miller said.

Miller concluded that the renovations must be done, not just from the standpoint of remaining competitive, but for also giving residents the best possible living standards they can afford, just as they must keep in step with the latest technology as they can afford it.

Nicholas County Judge-Executive Reece Smith and several magistrates accepted the offer to meet with the board for further details about the renovation plans.

In other fiscal court business:

- Magistrates abandoned the idea of having a concrete slab across the creek on Watkins Lane based on liability risk involved. Several experts advised against laying in the slab due to the possible dangers and threat it could cause. Smith, however, said other possibilities for the section were investigated.
- Magistrates were informed that these asphalt treatments of $10,000 had been added to the budget. Magistrates should turn in their requests for road repairs.
- Agreed to sign a reciprocal legal agreement with the Bluegrass Regional Recycling Project.
- Heard a first reading on an ordinance requiring application inspection approval for new homes. The ordinance, requested by county health inspector Larry Trussell, is designed to prevent possible living standards that can afford, just as they must keep in step with the latest technology as they can afford it.

MERCURY VAPOURS

by Warren R. Fisher

I came from the ground up with the not so light end. I know outside like I shouldn't be where I was! But it was too late. There I am in mid-air with several hundred dollars worth of freezer. I didn't get to my freezer. I should have bought me some several hundred dollars in back pants before the tank muscles are normal again, if ever!

I woke up Sunday morning, all muscle-bound. You know what day Sunday turned out to be for me, our 43rd wedding anniversary. I couldn't even put my socks on, and my better half, Kay, remarked that my feet weren't soft and cuddly like grandson Brian's. Frankly I spent most of the day on those muscle-bound muscles. I felt deep freeze just isn't my cup of tea.

Something questionable

Since I did have considerable time my husband and I wrote articles, I sort looked for something suitable with an attempt to do something. "Technology is machine, typography is the new medium, Graphic Arts Marketing Associates."

"Showing a Maine mouse, if the law goes off, ought to prove faulty as inspiring as getting somebody's pet pussy sleeping in the sun on a stoop."

"We consider the road map an unique service for motorists, and it has turned out to be a unique and flexible medium for advertisers."

Gene Constock, manager of Amoco Oil Co. map programs. They distributed 20 million free maps this year.

Betrablipper

Having seen square eggs served to the better half when she's in the hospital, that is just the whole idea. The square tomato didn't throw me. Why would it? I prefer round tomatoes but that "they have to be square eggs."

Thus, he adds, they are inefficient in full volume harvesting.
