

Bat Jackets advance to regional finals

By Job Shepherd
The Nicholas County Bat Jackets advanced to regional finals with a sound victory over the Bracken County Polar Bears, 6-1, Tuesday afternoon.

The Polar Bears had claimed a surprise victory over the Bracken County Engineers in the first round of the 10th region tournament Monday, leading off with their pitcher, Mark Tucker.

Nicholas names three to state track competition
LEXINGTON — The sectional track meet at Shively track at the University of Kentucky saw the Nicholas County Track Team in various stages of victory and frustration.

With only the top two finishers allowed to go on to state competition this weekend, much was riding on the individual performances of the team.

In field events, Nicholas County stood out and will send seven competitors to the state finals.

Brian Canupp finished first in the boys' single 400-meter dash, several feet farther than his nearest competitor.

On the girl's side of the state, Tina Fryman walked away with second place, just being edged on the last throw by an inch to keep her out of the first place spot.

Michelle Hopkins took first place in the girls' 400-meter dash and will head to the state to pit herself against Kentucky's best.

But as successful as these three were in the sectional, Nicholas County Trackers were continually frustrated by admirable third place finishes which, nevertheless, kept them out of state competition.

Against the Bat Jackets, the Polar Bears put up a tight defense, holding the Jackets to a low hit total throughout seven innings. Although the Jackets maintained control of the game through the eighth, it was never really away victory.

Nicholas County Head Coach Billy Anderson was pleased for the win, but frustrated at what he felt was a poor batting effort on the part of the Jackets.

"Defensively we did great. Travis Sims pitched an out-standing game and the work of the infield and outfield in getting the outs was great. But we didn't hit the ball nearly as well as we did against Fleming."

"Our batters had no patience to wait for the shot and second before on base hits before Sims burnt three straight by Wade Rankin for the third out."

Although hitting was a problem throughout the game for the Jackets, it was less so in the first. Daniel Brown allowed a base hit from Kevin Morris and sent a homer over the right field fence, bringing both runners home.

Stacy and Brad stepped in to pitch, but the ball was caught for two outs.

It looked as if it would be three up, three down for the Jackets in the bottom of the second with larrel Stacy and Bradley Trossell partnering the first two outs.

The turnaround came with designated hitter John Brown who made first with a ground hopper between second and third.

Wills brought Brown in an euable. But the big play of the evening came from Morris who knocked out a triple that brought Wills home for a total two runs to finish out the inning.

Stacy was able to take some kind of vengeance at the top of the fifth, making a professional snag of a pop foul in left field, just over the fence boundary for the Bracken out.

The Polar Bears only scored came off a homer from Trent Howard in the sixth, but was not enough to unsettle the Jackets and take a possible final seat themselves.
