CKBC blood drive November 2

If you've heard from Central Kentucky Blood Center lately, it isn't because you're not needed to donate. In fact, CKBC would like to see you at the next blood drive in Nicholas County on Monday, November 2. The blood drive is sponsored by Nicholas County Hospital and is located at the RCF Day Room of Johnson-Mathers Nursing Center. The hours are 2 p.m. to 7 p.m.

More blood donors are needed than ever before to keep up with the increasing demand for blood and its components. That's why CKBC is searching for "lost" donors. If you have recently moved into the area or you've had a change of your phone number, CKBC would like to know. A safe and adequate blood supply demands on CKBC's ability to contact donors when particular blood types are needed, a blood shortage occurs or a patient has special needs that can be met by a donor.
