Jobless may be eligible for additional benefits

About 20,000 Kentuckians who have or will exhaust their jobless benefits may be eligible for an additional 20 weeks of payments under an extension of the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act of 1992.

The act, signed by President Bill Clinton March 4, extends the filling period for new emergency unemployment compensation claims. It is the fourth unemployment benefits extension since November 1991.

Margaret Whittet, commissioner of the Kentucky Department for Employment Services, said to qualify for the extension individuals must have exhausted their regular benefits after March 6, 1993, or have a remaining balance on a previous emergency unemployment compensation claim.

The new extension continues to allow claimants the option of receiving either regular unemployment insurance benefits or emergency unemployment compensation. Whittet said people can choose the most beneficial claim depending on their weekly benefit amount.

"People who may be eligible for the extension will receive letters from the Department for Employment Services explaining their benefits. But if someone thinks he may qualify he should contact his local employment services office," Whittet said.

The new extension does not give previous benefits filers an additional 20 weeks, unless they qualify under a new regular benefits claim. New claims, can be filed through October 2, 1993, with no benefits being paid after January 15, 1994.

Whittet estimated that the total extra benefits to Kentuckians as a result of the fourth extension could reach $50.8 million.

Approximately 65,200 Kentuckians have applied for the first three extensions (November 1991, February and July 1992) with $134.1 million in additional benefits being paid through February 1993.

Election offices are more efficient

Nicholas Countians who utilize the services of the State Board of Elections and the Registration of Election Finance will find them now housed in the same building.

The State Board and its staff have moved from offices in the state capitol and have joined Registry at 140 Walnut Street in Frankfort.

The State Board of Elections telephone number remains the same -- 564-7100 and the fax number is 564-4639.

Secretary of State Bob Babbage, chairman of the State Board of Elections, said the move would be more convenient for persons who use the two agencies.

The two agencies deal with different aspects of elections. By sharing space the information between them will be enhanced.

Candidates who file their papers with the Secretary of State will still be served in the Secretary's capitol office, Babbage said.

The State Board of Elections maintains a roster of all qualified registered voters in Kentucky by county and by precinct. The board furnishes each county clerk with a master list of registered voters and the signature roster signed by voters on election day.

The board also furnishes registration information to political parties and candidates.

The Registry of Election Finance is an independent agency of state government which regulates the financial activities of political campaigns. The Registry has been granted subpoena power and the ultimate responsibility for all policy and enforcement decisions concerning the regulation of elections.

Matthew Kennedy, president of Nicholas County Farm Bureau along with membership committe Gordon Sargent, Treasbley Markland and Steve Duncan urge all farmer to join Farm Bureau to help support our voices in Washington and Frankfort on Farm Bureau issue. Pictured above are Governor Brereton Jones and state Farm Bureau President Bill Sprague signing a proclamation for Farm Bureau Membership Month last month.

Army to increase college funds

The Army announced it is increasing to $30,000 the maximum amount of money for college available to qualified applicants who enlist for the new Army College Fund (ACF).

substantial boost from the previous maximum of $25,200 for a four-year enlistment was initiated, with Congressional approval, to restore the fund's buying power to its fiscal year 1985 origination level.

The $30,000 amount is a special enlistment incentive which is created by combining money from the Montgomery GI Bill ($13,200) with a $1,200 contribution from the soldier, and the remaining $15,6000 provided by the new ACF. Similar increases have been made for a three-year enlistment d($25,000 for college tuition), and a two-year enlistment ($20,000).

As college expenses have increased, sources for funding college costs have declined. At the same time a college education is still crucial to success in many career fields. The new ACF provides qualified individuals opportunities to obtain guaranteed funding for college.

A soldier who successfully completes a four-year enlistment with the Army College Fund option would have $833.33 per month for four years of college, based on nine-month academic year. The money may also be used for any schooling approved by the Veterans Administration--junior college, vo-tech school, college or university.

According to SCF Joseph Boyles, Army recruiter in Winchester, to qualify for the new Army College Fund, an applicant must have a high school diploma, achieve a score of at least 50 on the entrance aptitude test, enlist in a designated critical job skill, have no prior military service, and meet the other enlistment eligibility requirements. For more information, Boyles can be reached at 744-8255.

Woods family tree

Today's Woods line has branched out to include over 20 proven products ... all tested in the same tradition of innovation, quality, value and service that began when we introduced the first tractor powered rotary mower in 1947.

Engineered and manufactured at our plant in northern Illinois. Woods mowers, cutters, scraper blades, backhoes and other specialty products are known for superior performance and rugged reliability.

They're the first choice of commercial users, farmers and home owners when quality, value and service count most.
