By Rev. Michael J. Weglicki, Pastor Bishop of Our Lady of Good Shepherd Catholic Church The Real Preparation

It seems like preparation for Christmas came every year. We first begin to hear of the approaching holiday in July. After Labor Day you can buy Christmas ornaments. By Thanksgiving shopping is already underway.

Like most celebrations, such as birthdays or anniversaries, Christmas is the remembrance of an event that took place some 2,000 years ago. This was the birth of the child Jesus. It actually did take place in history and we remember it in the same way that we remember our own birthdays and anniversaries.

The present aspect is about what one is doing now to await the coming of the Lord. Jesus once told parables about ten bridesmaids. Five were wise and five were foolish. They were to await the arrival of the groom with their own lamps. Since none knew when the groom would arrive, five of the men had some extra oil. Five didn't, so as it grew dark those that did not have any extra oil noticed their lamps going out. Those that brought the extra oil couldn't share it, for otherwise they would run out of oil. The five foolish bridesmaids had to go and find some oil. It was now late at night and many of the dealers were probably closed. The five wise bridesmaids got into the wedding ceremony. By the time the others returned, it was too late for them to join the festivities. The door had already been barred (Matthew 25: 1-13).

The message to be that all of the holiday preparations get completed, the shopping, the decorating, the cooking and the eating. However, the real message of the season could be lost. The signs of the upcoming holiday, which were visible for the past few months and the hectic pace of life during December, can distract us from why we celebrate Christmas.

At the tender age of nine months, Kelly Reagan Earlywine has captured two national titles in the Glamour Dolls National Beauty and Talent Pageant System. Reagan, who is the youngest daughter of Robbie and Leigh Ann Earlywine of Irving, Ky., won the National Photogenic Award and National Best Pro-An Award in her age division of 0-18 months. She was second runner-up in Photogenic Portfolio, first runner-up in Pro-An Modeling and is first runner-up to the title of National Baby Miss Glamour Doll. Reagan received three trophies, two lovely plaques and a gorgeous rhinestone tiara.

Reagan credits her win to her big sister Whitney, who is teaching her everything she knows about pageants. Reagan and her parents wish to thank her sponsors, because without their help, she could not have participated in the pageant. Chuck's Body Shop & Dinner held in Sharpburg KY. The Thanksgiving dinner was given at the home of Bud and Marilyn Breaft in Sharpburg. Those who attended were Bud, Marilyn, Chad and Shawn Breaft, Kim, Alvin, Matthew, and Jessica White, Carma Breaft and Ashley, Penny and Eugene Robinson, Greg, Karen, and Andrew Robinson. Everyone enjoyed themselves by having turkey and all of the trimmings.
