Public invited to discuss county's future at "Ky. 2001"

Residents in Nicholas County will soon have an opportunity to present their views on priorities for their community through the Kentucky Strategic Area Development Program, known as Kentucky 2001. Nicholas County local elected officials, community leaders, as well as other citizens are invited to attend a public meeting on Tuesday, February 9, 1993, at 2:00 p.m. at the Carlisle City Hall.
Topics discussed at the meeting will include: economy, human resources, area infrastructure, transportation, environment/natural resources, justice and area organizations and governance. The information from this meeting will be used to plan for future projects and programs in Carlisle, in the unincorporated county, and in the larger region.
Kentucky 2001 is a process to allow Kentuckians to shape the next century for themselves.
