the recent tragedy in Carter County has brought this problem home, and administrators are handling it the best way they know how.

What can we do about this? The problem really is widespread as it is believed? The only ones who truly know the answers to these questions are the students themselves. Administrators can take

Eva Wills of 106 Spangler was surprised on her 84th birthday with a 'memory quilt' from her children. The quilt was made by her granddaughter Jennifer Peuple of Hillsboro, Tennessee.

After selecting the photos she would be using, she had them made up on an 8 1/2 inch by 11 inch sheet of paper, leaving one-fourth inch margins. The photos were sent to the Great American Quilt Factory in Denver, Colorado to be printed on a special paper, and then laminated on a cream colored fabric that she had purchased and cut into 9 inch by 12 inch patches.

can't believe I kept quiet about my mother, for she was really surprised, but it took the families cooperation to do it," she said.

There was no damage to the photos sent to Colorado, they were returned to Jennifer unharmed. Both black and white and colored photos were used and made the quilt more interesting and original.

Also, candidates for the county races of sheriff, county clerk, district and circuit court clerk, constable, coroner, county attorney and property valuation administrator will be profited.

Another candidate for county judge, Allan Clay Stone, said one of his priorities would be to keep closer contact with state government to make progress in Nicholas County.

The county-judge executive should be in close contact and very active in Frankfort, Stone said. "We need to cooperate with all the counties around us to gain industry. As a county, we deserve better representation on the state level."
