More than notebooks, paper needed for return to school

By Heather Mathews Harris
of The Carlisle Mercury Staff
CARLISLE - Nicholas County Schools is officially open on August 19, but parents need more than a few backpacks, clothes, pencils and notebooks to get their children ready for school.

Amanda Abner and Patsy Smoot ready for the lunch crowd at Abner's Blue Licks grocery store next to Blue Licks State Park.

Babbage reminds teens to register

"Many Nicholas County teens may be unaware that Kentucky law permits those who will be 18 on or before the date of the general election, registration by 60, 2025. Between the 1992 presidential election and this year's primary, registration increased by 83,929.

The One to See
Dr. Robert F. Pritchard, O.D.
Dr. Ron S. Miranda, O.D.
I am writing this success story to express my gratitude to Dr. Pritchard and staff of Cynthiana Vision Center.
I've 5 years until I decided to have my eyes examined. I thought I was seeing everything fine. I WAS WRONG! After I got my new glasses, everything I looked at, had new meaning. It was like being blind for 3 years. Thanks to Cynthiana Vision Center I have my sight back. I want everyone to be able to see it as best as they are physically able to. Don't take your eyes for granted get them checked every year.
