Church Corner

The following is an article written by a local church official, and does not necessarily reflect the views or opinions held by The Carlisle Mercury or Park Communications, Inc.

By Rev. Dr. B. Kent Duke
Pastor, First Christian Church

November 7th is an important day for Nicholas County Christians. On that day the First Christian Church will mark the Bi-Centennial origins of the congregation dating back to the Old Concord Church. The early congregation actually began meeting in 1790 but the first meeting house was apparently built in 1793. Below is an artist's depiction of the Old Concord Church.

THE CONCORD MEETING HOUSE

According to the Concord Church Trustees' Book:

"In the year 1793, a number of Presbyterians united together and built a house of worship, known by the name of Concord Meeting House, for the use of said Congregation." This was a log building, the first Church building in what is now Nicholas County. It was erected on the farm of one John Fowler and was located at the foot of the hill near what is now the southwest corner of the old grave yard.

BARTON W. STONE BEGINS MINISTRY

Coming to Kentucky, on a preaching tour, in 1796, Barton W. Stone visited both Concord and Cane Ridge, where he preached for a time. Mr. Stone was invited to become the regular minister of these churches and he accepted in 1798.

GREAT REVIVAL HAD ITS BEGINNING AT CONCORD

In 1801, hearing of great religious excitement at a camp-meeting in Logan County, Kentucky, Mr. Stone attended. Upon his return from the Logan County meeting, Mr. Stone preached at Cane Ridge on a Sunday morning and at Concord that night. At these services great interest was shown whereupon Mr. Stone began a protracted meeting at Concord, during which great masses of people attended and their interest became so intense that it was said that the whole country appeared to be in motion toward Concord. Multitudes from all denominations attended and the meeting continued five days and five nights without ceasing.

This meeting was indeed the beginning of the great revival of 1801 which culminated at Cane Ridge in August of that year. Therefore it is a historical fact that the famous Cane Ridge revival had its real beginning in the protracted meeting at Concord.

The community is invited to attend the Bi-Centennial Celebration at 4 o'clock in the afternoon on November 7, 1993 at 100 Catherine Street.

Dr. Duke conducts services at First Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) each Sunday at 10:45 a.m.

Church to mark 200th year

The Commonwealth of Kentucky was just a year old when Old Concord church was founded in 1793 in Carlisle. On Sunday, November 7, First Christian Church, the lineal descendent of that congregation, will celebrate the 200th birthday of the occasion and would like everyone to join in the fun.

The 4 p.m. bicentennial celebration will feature President Richard L. Harrison, Jr., of Lexington Theological Seminary as guest speaker. The church historian is the author of From Camp Meeting to Church, a history of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Kentucky, published in 1992.

Participating in the celebration will be numerous representatives from other Disciples congregations in Kentucky as well as Dr. Harold Tackett, President of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Kentucky. There will also be special music and a display of memorabilia from the congregation's early years. A reception will follow.

Some of the notable historical events associated with the pioneer congregation are a revival that occurred eight months prior to the more famous one at Cane Ridge. An estimated 15,000 persons attended the revival at Carlisle. It was also an early advocate for communion being open to persons of all faiths and is the oldest continuous Disciples congregation.

The Old Concord Church site was located 2 1/2 miles south of present day Carlisle and is under the care of The Old Concord Foundation.

Club to meet Nov. 18

The Nicholas County Fish and Game Club will meet Friday, November 18, 1993 at 7:30 p.m. at the club. The meal will be pot luck. There will be a white elephant sale.

Crouch receives scholarship

Christopher Crouch of Sharpsburg is the recipient of a $1,000 college scholarship as a winner of the sixth annual TUP Shootout basketball promotion. Crouch is one of 17 scholarship winners nationwide.

Jeff Leskosky, area sales manager for Seven-Up USA and Keith Melaragno, general manager, and Jim Malone, area manager, both of Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Ripley, Ohio, presented the scholarship to Crouch, October 13, in Sharpsburg. The winner's parents, Karen and Jerry Crouch, also attended the presentation.

Specially marked cans of 7Up, Diet 7Up, Cherry 7Up and Diet Cherry 7UP offered consumers chances to instantly win a $1,000 scholarship. Consumers also had the option of collecting caps from 2-liter and 16-ounce non-returnable bottles or game pieces of specially marked multi-pack cans of Seven-Up products. Five closures and/or game pieces that together spelled the word "SHOOT" entitled the bearer to a scholarship.

Special product packaging, a 30-second promotional television commercial and a 60-second radio commercial informed consumers of the Shootout promotion.

Is your poor vision causing limitations in your activities and diminishing the quality of your life? Many people suffer from needless visual handicaps that often times can be corrected utilizing one of the many modern advances in medical technology. Eye care has undergone a revolution in its ability to recognize and treat many previously chronic and debilitating conditions.

With the advent of laser treatment and out-patient surgery, good vision may be just a few steps away. If you or someone you care about is having a problem, contact your local eye care professional and find out if you can be helped.
